New teacher contract approved in Romulus

The Romulus Board of Education has formally approved a new teacher employment contract for the 1971-72 school year which will give starting teachers a $500 increase over last year.

The one-year contract between the Romulus Education Association and the Board of Education, ratified by the school district's 280 teachers, calls for salary increases subject to the presidential wage-price freeze of Aug. 15.

In addition, the new agreement calls for improvements in the insurance fringe benefit program as it applies to hospitalization, medical and dental services.

Negotiations on the new contract began in March. The former teacher contract expired Aug. 15.

The new salary schedules under the pact are as follows: Teachers with a bachelor of arts degree will receive a starting pay of $8,500 as against $8,000 last year. Those with masters degrees will receive a starting pay of $9,500 against $9,000, and education specialists will start at $10,500, up from $10,000 last year.

The new salary maximums after 10 years of service are $13,550 for teachers with bachelor's degrees, $14,000 for those with a master's and $16,700 for education specialists. These maximum rates compare with $12,000, $15,000 and $16,000 under the previous contract.

The improvement in insurance fringe benefits is full family coverage with no price limitation, plus the choice of a dental program if they don't subscribe to the hospitalization or medical plans.

This is the first year that teachers have had the choice on the dental program.

A proposed three-year employment contract covering employees of the City of Romulus has been presented to Local 214 of the Teamsters State, County & Municipal Workers by Romulus' administrative officials.

The terms of the proposed contract containing the city's counter proposals were presented to union officials at a union membership meeting held in Romulus last Thursday night.

Local 214 was selected by the employees as their sole bargaining agent, and negotiations on a new employment contract for the 50 to 60 city employees, have since been in process since last July.

Union officials have not formally acted on the city's latest offer pending a complete review and study of the proposed contract. The contract was received about one-half hour before last Thursday's meeting.

Another meeting of the union membership is scheduled for sometime this week to consider the city's new proposals.

Jack Valenti, president of Local 214 announced last week that an unfair labor charge was filed against the city.

The complaint was filed Sept. 23 with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission.

The complaint has been assigned to James Kurtz of the commission and a hearing on the charge is scheduled for 10 a.m. Oct. 11, in the State Labor Building, located at Woodward Avenue and East Grand Boulevard, Detroit.

Sharp increase noted in August's building

The Romulus Building Department reported Monday a sharp increase in building in the City of Romulus during the month of August.

The building department issued 63 building permits calling for residential and commercial construction in excess of $4 million.

There were 31 permits issued for commercial buildings, totaling $4,332,315 in construction costs, and 32 residential building permits with a construction value of $93,000.

Total building permit fees collected by the city amounted to $23,722.24. Among the fees collected were those paid for permits for other than building.

The electrical division of the building department issued 110 permits, the heating division issued 36 permits, the refrigeration division issued eight permits and the plumbing division issued 25.

Fees collected by these divisions totaled $5,330.

Building permits issued for the construction of additional parking facilities at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport accounted for $3,977,400 of the August building total.

The construction of expanded parking decks at the airport is part of the current expansion program approved by the Wayne County Road Commission some time ago. The road commission operates the airport.

August building permits included an office and warehouse for Sentry Drug Co. of Detroit, $75,000; an industrial building for Metro Machinery Sales of Wyandotte, $65,000; a service station for Shell Oil Co. of Southfield, $45,000; a medical clinic for Dr. Clarence J. Carpenter, $41,000 and a fire repairs project for A & D Motor Sales, located $16,000 Huron River Dr., Romulus, $28,000.

Belleville mayor wins 'shoot-out of big shots'

Mayor Royce E. Smith of Belleville was declared the winner of the 1971 trapshoot held under the sponsorship of the Romulus Jaycees.

In a neck-and-neck duel, the government administrators from Romulus are surrounding communities vied for top honors in a "shoot-out of the Big Shots" held last Saturday (Sept. 25) in a vacant area, located on Ozga Road, south of the I-94 Expressway, Romulus.

When the smoke cleared a tie existed between Mayor Smith and Hyle J. Carmichael, Mayor of Romulus. Judging another round of shooting by the two mayors were Huron Township Supervisor George W. Moore and Police Lt. Joseph Beesley representing Mayor Richard Trolley of Taylor.

Mayor Smith won and received the "coveted" trophy from Al Bossidis, chairman of the Jaycee sponsored event.

Officials participating in the event congratulated Mayor Smith and challenges were quickly exchanged by the officials for next season's trapshoot.

The Jaycees reported Monday that due to the inclement weather on Saturday, the trapshoot will continue on Sunday, Oct. 3 during the hours of 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Fifty-six shooters participated with 14 shooters qualifying for the final meet on Oct. 3.

The Jaycees wish to emphasize that the trapshoot is held primarily for the average shooter and that everyone is welcome.

The cost is $1 for practicing and $1.50 to qualify for the final shoot. Shells are also available at discount prices.

A. Gielinski, 78, dies in Florida

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners have elected two members, one an incumbent, to the four-member County Board of Canvassers.

Incumbent Morris Hood, a UAW international representative, was re-elected along with Earl Kennedy, who operates a travel agency and real estate office in Detroit.

Hood, a democrat, and Kennedy, a republican, were elected for four-year terms during a formal meeting of the commissioners on Sept. 23.

Hood has been a member of the Board of Canvassers since 1967, and Kennedy replaces Emmet E. Tracy Jr., also elected in 1967.

Governing State regulations require that the Board of Canvassers consist of two republicans and two democrats. Nominees are submitted by committee chairmen of the two major political parties, a requirement also imposed by state statute.

The Board of Canvassers is charged with the certification of election results within Wayne County. They receive $25 per diem, and $50 per diem for recounts.

The complaint has been assigned to James Kurtz of the commission and a hearing on the charge is scheduled for 10 a.m. Oct. 11, in the State Labor Building, located at Woodward Avenue and East Grand Boulevard, Detroit.

The complaint is based on an alleged refusal of the city to negotiate.

It was stated Monday that the receipt of the counter proposals by the city will not dismiss the complaint until a minute study is made of the terms of the new proposal.

The city's offer contains an across-the-board pay increase of 10 per cent for the first year of the contract, seven per cent the second year and five per cent the third year for clerical and office employees.

Pay scales for hourly-rated employees would range between $4.59 per hour to $3.91 per hour with five per cent and seven per cent pay hikes in the second and third year of the contract.

The contract calls for an annual salary of $11,000 for a building inspector and also for a sanitary inspector, with similar pay boosts in the second and third year of the contract.

It was reported that the city's proposal has deleted certain benefits allowed under the old contract that expired last April 19. These benefits relate to vacation, longevity and sick leave.

Ramada Inn will again seek liquor license ok

By HENRY CANTIN

Attorneys and representatives of Ramada Inn of Romulus will again appear before Romulus City Council this week to seek the council's approval of a liquor license request.

At its Sept. 16 session the council denied the $4 million Ramada Inn its request for a Class C license.

A motion to grant the inn a license made by Councilman William M. Oakley was defeated by a roll call vote of 4-3.

The latest request by attorneys for the inn asks the council's approval of a transfer of a Resort Tavern liquor license from a business in Green Oak Township, Livingston County, to the Romulus Ramada Inn.

Council members are also being asked to approve the transfer of classification of this resort tavern liquor license (10-month license) to a Class B Hotel (12 month license) and a waiver of rights of the current licensing fee.

William Moshier, attorney for Ramada Inn, informed city officials at the Sept. 16 meeting of council that the inn received approval from the Michigan Liquor Control Commission for the proposed transfer.

But the City Council must approve the transfer and waive transfer fees that have been paid to Green Oak Township.

Moshier has asked the council to approve the license transfer, pointing out the transfer of the resort tavern license would not have any bearing on the six Class C liquor licenses newly allotted to the City of Romulus by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

Members of the council who voted against the motion to grant the inn a liquor license "at this time" wanted further time to apply for a Class C license.

Council President Raspberry told the transfer request was an official agenda matter that a legal opinion have to be obtained from city attorney on the question of whether or not granting a transfer would deduct from the six new licenses. He stated the matter could be presented at a later council meeting.

In commenting Monday on last week's report that an opinion from the City Attorney John E. Young, stating the transfer of the resort license would have no bearing on the six new licenses allotted to Romulus, was in the hands of the council members at the Sept. 16 council session, Raspberry said:

"At a previous council meeting I asked the City Attorney for an opinion on the transfer matter. He had rendered his opinion to the city hall and the council received it in a folder along with other council matters five minutes before the council session started.

"The attorney did say that it would not deduct from the six licenses but on the question of classifying the resort license (10-month license) to a Class B Hotel (12 months license), the city attorney was not sure. I wanted to study this point further and get further legal clarification," he stated.

Raspberry said that Young suggested a letter be sent to the legal counsel for the Michigan Liquor Control Commission for his opinion.

"If the commission's attorney concurs in the opinion that reclassifying the resort license will not deduct from the six licenses that we have, no problem as far as Ramada Inn is concerned, Raspberry said.

Ramada Inn opened its motel facilities Aug. 24. Grand opening ceremonies and other facilities await the council's decision.

In airport bomb threat

Detroit woman held

A well-educated, 37-year-old woman, described by her father as "a soft touch for the underground movements — with my money" stands accused by the FBI of carrying dynamite and a loaded pistol aboard an airliner in an air piracy attempt at Metropolitan Airport Friday.

Barbara Pliskow, a white and longtime participant in protest movements, was jailed along with two blacks in what police said was a bizarre effort to free two Black Panthers and fly them out of the country.

Miss Pliskow was subdued by police in a brief struggle after she was lured off the Detroit-New York American Airlines flight 124 on the pretext that the plane had mechanical difficulties and could not take off.

Authorities, who had been alerted by the Detroit police intelligence unit that an attempt would be made to hijack the plane, told the 55 passengers and five crew members to leave the craft and back to the terminal to await another plane.

Police Lt. William McCoy, who had pieced together the police leads on the attempted seizure of the plane, arrived at the airport as federal air marshals were leading the passengers away to be searched.

McCoy said Miss Pliskow whom he pointed out to the marshals pulled a stick of dynamite from a shopping bag and threatened to detonate it with a bullet from her pistol. Three of the marshals had a hectic tussle before they subdued her as she screamed, "I've got a gun and dynamite and I'll blow us all up."

Neil J. Welch, special agent in charge of the Detroit FBI office, said the woman's purse contained a note threatening to blow up the aircraft. He said her purse also contained another note and a diagram.

He said the second note also contained a threat to blow up the plane and its passengers while the diagram was that of a woman pointing a gun into a bag apparently containing dynamite.

Detroit woman held

Police expressed belief she had planned to give the notes to the plane's stewardesses or flight crew to enforce her planned demand for the release of Michael D. Hill, 26, of Des Moines, Iowa and Ronald K. Irwin, 19, of Detroit, Black Panther members.

Hill is in Wayne County Detroit jail awaiting extradition on a murder charge stemming from the slaying in New York of a West Coast Panther, Samuel Napier.

Irwin was sentenced Thursday to life imprisonment in Southern Michigan state prison on a second degree murder charge in the slaying of a Mesick, Mich. man in Detroit last April.

Lt. McCoy said a search of Miss Pliskow's shopping bag turned up a letter signed by "The Black Liberation Army" outlining the alleged plot to free Hill and Irwin.

Within three hours after Miss Pliskow was arrested, FBI agents swooped down on a West Side Detroit Apartment and took five persons into custody. Three were released without charge.

Brenda Jackson, 23 and David Reddus, 19, both of Detroit and described by Detroit police as members of the Black Panthers, were charged with conspiracy to commit air piracy. They were unable to post $5,000 bond each at their appearance before U.S. Magistrate Paul Komives and were jailed pending federal court arraignments. FBI Agent

He said Miss Pliskow is a graduate of New York's Adelphi College and New York University and was working on a doctorate in psychology.

He said the only possible explanation he could give for his daughter's act was that she "firmly believes she is one of the new people."

Miss Pliskow meanwhile, made a brief appearance before U.S. Magistrate Komives and was held without bond for a preliminary hearing Monday.

"She's led underdog movements since her college days and she was that way in high school too," said her father. Pliskow said he would not act as counsel for his daughter. "I don't approve of any of this. I'm a criminal lawyer and she's caused me a great deal of unfavorable publicity with her involvement in these things."

Welch said the complaint alleged that Jackson and Reddus met with Barbara Pliskow to plan the aircraft hi-jacking.

Lt. McCoy said police intelligence officers had been developing information on the alleged plot for several days and got a crucial bit of information — which he did not disclose — shortly before the Boeing 727 jetliner was due to take off. American Airlines was notified to hold up the plane while concentrated in the area.

Miss Pliskow's father Harry, a prominent Detroit criminal attorney, said his daughter had always wanted the glory of being a leader of underground movements.

"Oh, my God, this is the end for her with me," said Pliskow when he heard of her arrest.

"She's in bad shape," he continued, "if she got into dynamiting a plane and all that... I'm afraid the Feds know what they are doing."

Belleville Kiwanis plans travelog series

The Belleville Kiwanis Club will again sponsor a travel and adventure series this year.

William Hinchey, chairman of the travelogs, says that the Belleville club obtained a new travel and adventure series for the 1971-72 presentations.

The series consists of six travelogs, each a new film, accompanied by a commentator whose personal travels enable him to speak on his subject.

The travelogs will be shown at the Belleville Senior High School Auditorium at 8 p.m. starting with "Paris of the Parisians" and the first presentation on Thursday, Oct. 7.

"Paris of the Parisians" is not just another travelog. It is a documentary look at the lives of the Parisians, seeing the city as the Parisians see it, including the famed cathedral of Notre Dame, the parks, the racetrack, the flea market, the Arc de Triomphe, Montmartre and the artists.

The presentations will be on the first Thursday of each month starting Oct. 7. The complete series will cost $6 for adults, $4 for senior citizens and $3 for students.

Future presentations are: "Of Thee I Sing—Beautiful America," "The Pacific Northwest," "Greece and the Greeks," "Nova Scotia—Highlands to the Sea," and "Bicycling through Germany."

Mobile home site plans presented to planners

A new site plan submitted by George Rohler, owner and operator of the Belleville Manor Mobile Homes, located at 8701 Belleville Rd., Belleville, for the proposed expansion of his present facilities has been presented to the Van Buren Planning Commission.

At a special meeting held at the township hall on Sept. 22, the commission accepted the proposed site plans as presented. Final action is up to the Township Board.

A land parcel of 25.5 acres has been rezoned from single family agriculture to mobile home. The land parcel is located on the northeast corner of Tyler and Belleville roads and adjacent to Rohler's present mobile home park.

The new site plan disclosed that lots will be 45 feet by 95 feet, with a patio eight feet by 40 feet. There will be two 10-foot by 25-foot asphalt car parking spaces in front of each mobile home.

The roads will be 30 feet wide with 30-inch concrete sidewalks. There will be two and one half acres of recreational area.

After construction is completed, Moms Drive will be closed off to mobile home traffic.

Rohler's present site plans incorporate all suggestions made at previous sessions before the planning commission.

Torch teach sets $31 million goal

It's 31 in '71 for the United Foundation (UF) Torch Drive Team.

The UF Board of Directors have approved a $31 million target for the 1971 campaign.

The 23rd annual Torch Drive begins Oct. 12 and runs through Nov. 4. It underwrites the budgets of 164 health and community agencies in the Wayne-Oakland-Macomb area.

Highest ever set for a UF Torch Drive, the goal becomes the objective for 1971 Campaign General Chairman Gilbert F. Richards and more than 150,000 UF volunteers in the three counties.

The goal is $590,325 above the $30,409,675 raised in 1970.

"It's the absolute minimum necessary for meeting service needs" said UF Board Chairman Thomas Morrow. Morrow called for the 7 percent increase in giving "to produce a total sufficient to permit full implementation of our new priority system."

Regarding the economic climate, Morrow said:

"It is too early to determine what effect the price and wage freeze will have on this year's Torch Drive. But anything which stimulates a healthier automobile industry should help Detroit's United Foundation."

"And anything which slows inflation should help this year's campaign," he added.

Chairman Richards has organized a "first class team" during the summer, Morrow said, "and is well ahead of previous Torch Drives, a real plus for a tough campaign."

Security systems to go in buildings

The Romulus Board of Education has authorized the purchase of a security system for the school district's elementary schools, administration building and school bus garage.

The installation cost of the burglar system by the Merchants Detective Agency of 1131 Dix Lincoln Park, is a reported $7,460 with a monthly service fee of $352.

The authorization by the school board is contingent upon a successful trail installation at the Beverly Elementary School.

The cost of the Merchants Detective Agency system includes 11 units. It was the lowest of three bids submitted to the school board.

proposals to a contract offer previously submitted by the City Council. The city's offer has been termed inadequate.

The union has compiled comparisons of wages for Romulus employees with those received by workers in other Detroit suburbs with income comparable to Romulus.

In compiling the comparison of such cities, the union has come up with some wage averages to use as bargaining guidelines.

The averages were presented to Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael in July. They were put together using figures from the five communities in which the union has recently completed negotiations. They are Sterling Heights, Redford Township, Madison Heights, Birmingham and Hazel Park.

The city's new counter proposals were prepared at several recent executive sessions of the city council and the council's negotiating committee.

Dan Gallagher of the State Mediation Board, who was assigned to the negotiations, directed the city to present its counter proposals on the non-economic issues, then on the economic issues, by a Sept. 9 deadline.

A new traffic control signal is to be installed at the intersection of Harrison and Eureka roads, it was announced Monday.

Authorization for the Wayne County Road Commission to proceed with the installation as soon as possible has been granted by the City of Romulus.

Scouts choose officers

Campfire Girl Troop 460 of Romulus elected its officers for the 1971-72 year and its group name at a recent meeting.

The new officers are Vonda Wilks, president; Jill Fenner, vice president; Susan Bienkowski, secretary; Joyce Lowrimore, treasurer; and Ranie Quasarnano, sergeant-at-arms.

The troop's group name is HA TA HI TA. Troop leader Mrs. Mary Watts said the name means discover, accomplish, out-of-doors and helper.

Mrs. Watts also reported members of the troop studied camping at the troop's first two meetings and are currently dressing dolls for the Lincoln Park Fantasyland. They will be distributed to less fortunate children.

Residents in the area of the intersection requested the light because of children attending the Harrison Elementary School, located at 14701 Harrison Rd. and pedestrian and car traffic from new subdivisions in the area.

Traffic survey counts were conducted by Police Chief Jacob J. Koch of Romulus and the county road commission.

The city will finance one-half of the installation cost and will pay the monthly electric charge, Koch reported.

Dr. Charles Frey, director of surgery at Wayne County General Hospital and chairman of the Michigan Committee of Trauma, participated in the seminar. Dr. Frey presented his paper entitled "The Function of the Hospital Emergency Unit." According to the doctor, the major theme of the conference was the need to survey all

In our opinion

Next week to honor youngsters in 4-H

At agricultural exhibitions all over the country, demonstrations of youthful skills in agricultural pursuits are prominently featured. A leader in the encouragement of these skills is the 4-H Club.

National 4-H Week will be observed next week. The purpose of the week is to expand 4-H, gain greater public support, get more volunteer 4-H leaders and to express appreciation to 4-H friends locally and nationally.

Those who have been fortunate enough to attend county or state fairs this year have seen the results of 4-H club work in animal husbandry, home economics and other fields.

Any boy or girl between the ages of nine and 19 may become a 4-H member. Under the guidance of a 4-H club leader, he can begin acquiring qualities of responsible citizenship, as well as an understanding of the science of producing the food and fiber upon which life depends.

The emblem of the 4-H speaks for itself: my Head to clearer thinking, my Heart to greater loyalty, my Hands to larger service, my Health to better living, for my club, my community and my country.

More than two million youthful members of 4-H clubs stand behind the high goals and principles of 4-H.

4-H Week is the one time of the year when parents and the nation can respond to the young, who must carry out civilization and our country forward to a brighter future.

Sept. 29, 1946 — Committee members of District 10 are planning a training course for parents of prospective Cub Scouts (boys whose ages are nine, 10 or 11 years) to be held in the Congregational Church Parlor the evenings of October 7-9 at 7:30 p.m.

The meetings are being conducted because the committee feels that, before a boy can become a Cub Scout, his parents should be aware of the various phases of the organization, which was designed for the mutual and constructive activity of the boy and his parents.

An American Youth Hostel group, comprising 26 members from Wayne, Detroit, Ann Arbor, Plymouth and Whitmore Lake, returned to Friendly House after a canoe trip up the Huron River for supper and an evening of games, fellowship and community singing.

here as to just when Belleville actually became a City, but at Monday's meeting of the City Council Mayor Orlo Roberts set the date as of May 14, 1946. It was on that date that the Secretary of State received notification of Belleville's vote to become a Home Rule City so apparently that is the date which will go down in the records.

15 YEARS AGO

Sept. 29, 1956 — A permanent solution to their doubt and misunderstanding transportation problem, has not yet been found, but retarded children going to the WARC school are being transported in a car donated by R.F. Hutcherson, Inc.

Another of the school's problems, separate rooms for segregating different classes of children has been satisfactorily solved. Dennis D'Arcy, president of the Wayne Association for Retarded Children, said that a new location has been found with three enclosed side rooms as well as a main classroom.

The Dearborn YWCA is adding a new feature to its many fold adult activities. Under the guidance of Venetia Neerman, an adult chorus will get under way. Mrs. Neerman has taught music for many years. She is master of music and voice, and is specializing in vocal music.

Alvin D. Webster, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merwyn R. Webster, of 30055 Hennipin, has been promoted to rank of sergeant with the 11th Airborne Division, in Germany.

Sgt. Webster, an x-ray technician in the medical battalion, entered the Army in March, 1951. He has been in Germany since February.

The Federal Housing Administration's blanket prohibition on mortgage insurance in the Romulus area because of the area's nearness to the Detroit-Wayne Major Airport has been lifted, it was learned this week.

But this does not mean applications for FHA loan insurance will be readily approved, explained Wendell Edwards, FHA director in Detroit. It does mean that for the first time Romulus area will now be processed on its individual merit, rather than precluded for processing by the nearness of the airport.

ONE YEAR AGO

Sept. 29, 1970 — The City of Westland's coffers will be $225,717.39 richer this week after the Wayne Community School District refunds that amount in overpaid taxes.

Westland has known for some time that it overpaid its tax remittance to the school district, but only recently was the city able to determine the exact amount.

Three generations of former students and more than 250 other guests recently gathered to honor Mrs. Genevieve Huller on her retirement after 40 years of teaching in Garden City schools.

The tea was sponsored jointly by the Lathers-Florence PTA and the Lathers teaching staff.

New bill means funds for cities

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK, State Representative, 38th District

The state-local revenue sharing bill as passed by the legislature will mean substantially more state funds for numerous cities and modest increases for large numbers of other communities.

The bill revises the formula for sharing certain state-collected taxes with local units of government. Currently there is a straight per capita distribution of the funds, with each community getting a certain amount of money for each resident. The new plan also takes into consideration local tax burdens. In other words, those communities with higher-than-average tax burdens will receive additional funds.

Besides changing the formula, the legislature added some $23.6 million to the revenue-sharing pot.

The bill had touch sledding in the House, where it originated. It was defeated twice before finally winning House approval. It won approval in the Senate only after that chamber defeated attempts to restore funds that had been trimmed from the counties' share.

In paring the bill down to meet available revenues, the House had found it necessary to reduce the counties' share by some $3 million. There was an unsuccessful try in the Senate to restore about half the amount.

There also was an attempt in the Senate to give local units of government credit in the tax burden formula for 100 per cent of overlapping taxes. Instead, they will receive credit for half of the overlapping taxes.

One change in the bill made by the Senate and accepted by the House is designed to aid fast-growing communities, particularly those in the suburbs, by allowing credit in the formula for all special assessments and not just those made on an ad valorem basis. This would take into consideration those assessments made on a front-footage basis.

The only budget item which did not win final passage was the controversial social services appropriations. Because of continuing House-Senate disagreement, it was laid over until the fall session. The Social Services Department, meanwhile, will operate on an interim budget which holds spending at last year's levels.

The House passed the bill at $534.9 million, the Senate at $503.5 million. The final compromise can be expected to be somewhere between those two figures.

Even with that bill still pending there is general agreement that the budget, as it now stands, is a balanced one that will keep the state in the black in fiscal 1971-72. The governor has indicated he will sign the budget bills.

Using the Senate version of the social services bill, the budget now stands at $2.055 billion. Expected state revenues are set at $2.070 billion.

The largest single appropriations bill was for school aid. It sets spending at $1.05 billion, part of it coming from the state's general fund, the rest from restricted funds.

Romulus resident chides city council

To the editor: Romulus City Council meetings sure have action and what action. There is a possibility that, even seeing and hearing the statements made by some of the councilmen, you would not believe them.

By now, the representatives of the Ramada Inn must have very tender knees by having to appear so often before the council. They are still without a liquor license. Their request for a Class C license was finally denied.

Ramada Inn, knowing how slim their chances were of getting a Class C license, had made application for a Class B license (hotel license). They had approval from the Michigan Liquor Control Commission for the transfer of a resort license. The council whose approval was needed, had to waive renewing licenses fees, which had already been distributed to the township from which Ramada Inn bought the license.

Councilman Pennington made the amazing statement that he did not believe everything he received in the mail. Did he mean he would need to have our city attorney check the signature on the letter from the MLCC.

William Mosier, attorney, representing the Ramada Inn, asked that the requested Class B license be acted upon, as Leonard Folmer, city clerk had the application in front of him.

Council Chairman Raspberry denied the request because it was not on the agenda. It would have been a nice gesture on the chairman's part if he would have deviated from the agenda and, out of common courtesy, made room for the request. It was implied that the council was awaiting an opinion from the city attorney as to the possibility of Romulus losing one of its Class C licenses if the Class B license was approved.

It so happened that this opinion had been given to Chairman Raspberry and the other councilmen before the meeting.

Councilman Bizek doubts the intelligence of any $4 million business like the Ramada Inn coming into Romulus and building its facilities without first getting a license commitment.

If it's taken the Ramada people all these months to get a straight answer from the council on their Class C license, by the time the council gave a commitment, they would have to have had a new set of building plans drawn up because the original plans would have been outdated.

Come to think of it, I imagine the financial backers of the Ramada Inn are beginning to have their doubts, along with Mr. Bizek.

The discussions that took place before any action was taken was really something that made many of the spectators smile. Nine out of 10 times, the voting is 4-3. If three vote for a motion, you can bet that the other four will vote against it.

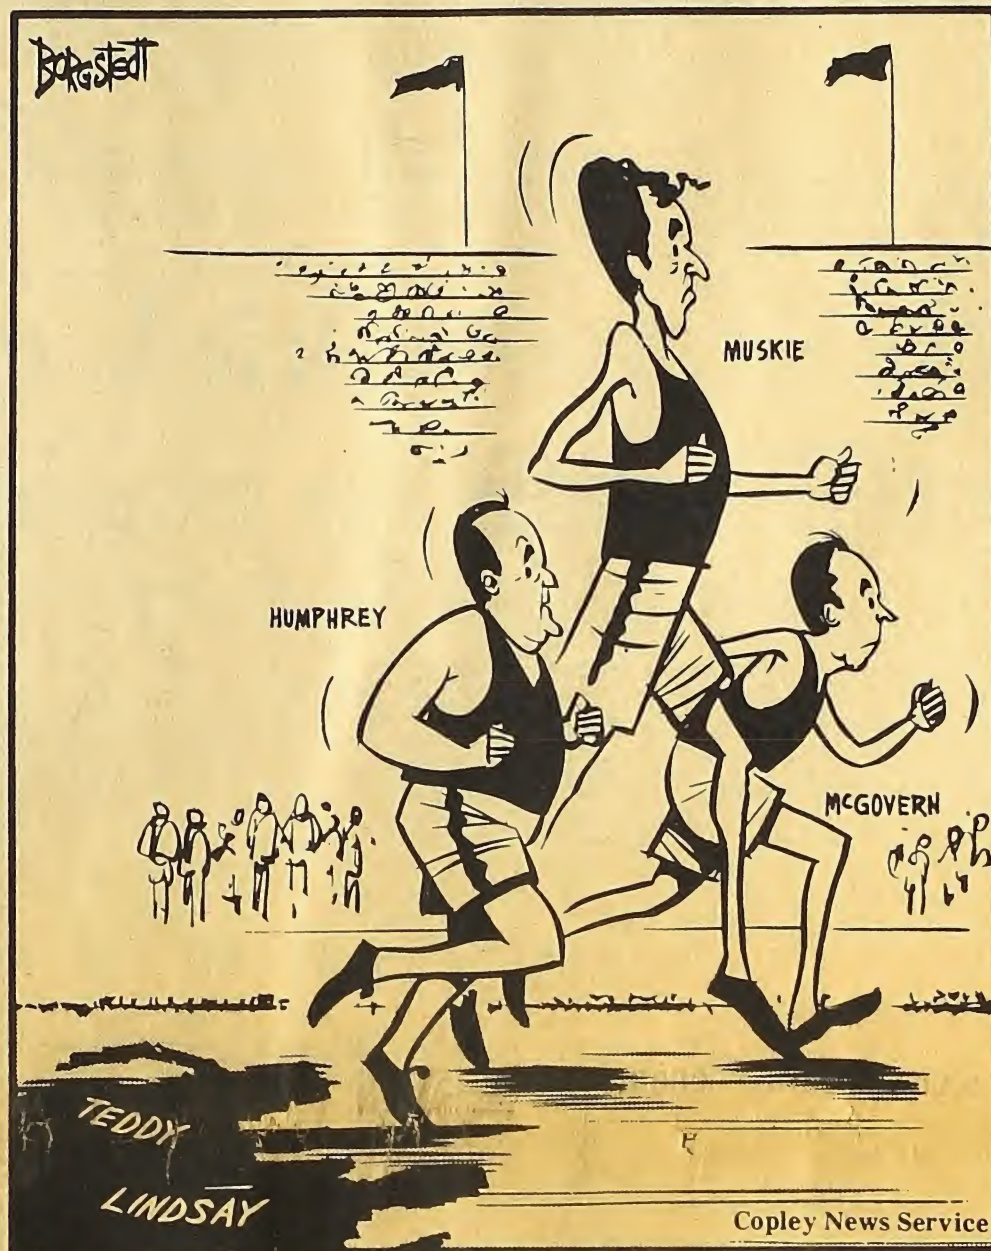

At one point during the discussion, the chair was challenged. With one of the usual four being absent, the chairman voted which created a 3-3 tie causing the challenge to fail. Roberts Rules of Order state that the chairman votes only to prevent a tie. Interpretation is again in question.

Another history making action was amending a motion before the council. When the voting was completed, the amendment was approved but the motion itself was defeated. Now my question is-how can you amend something you do not have.

It will be very interesting to find out just what method the council will be using when it decides who will receive a Class C liquor license.

Will they be awarded according to seniority, popularity or just a hat full of names.

Speaking of schools

Two young men-- two different paths

By BYRON K. ANTCLIFF
Superintendent of Huron School District

Some random thoughts on a rainy day:

As I stood in the 34th District Court of Judge James B. Stone, watching an 18-year-old facing charges for breaking into the Huron High School office, I was acutely aware of the mammoth task facing schools today.

Somewhere, perhaps, if the young man had the guidance, the concern, the program, all of this might have been avoided. But I got the feeling that he had these things at home from his father.

I wonder what it is that prevents us from communicating to young people the good wishes and concern we have for them. Maybe the answer lies in the fact that most who fail to get the message do poorly in school. Is it what we expect of our schools or what our schools expect of us?

Why is it that those who need the most love and understanding are the least lovable and most difficult to understand?

Two psychologists have completed a study which says that there is no evidence to indicate that sports help to build character. Instead, they claim, only those with character are allowed to participate in sports. What does this say about current eligibility rules?

Nevertheless, Huron's 7-0 loss to Gibraltar last Friday provided some examples of courage that can be a message to all of us in how to live.

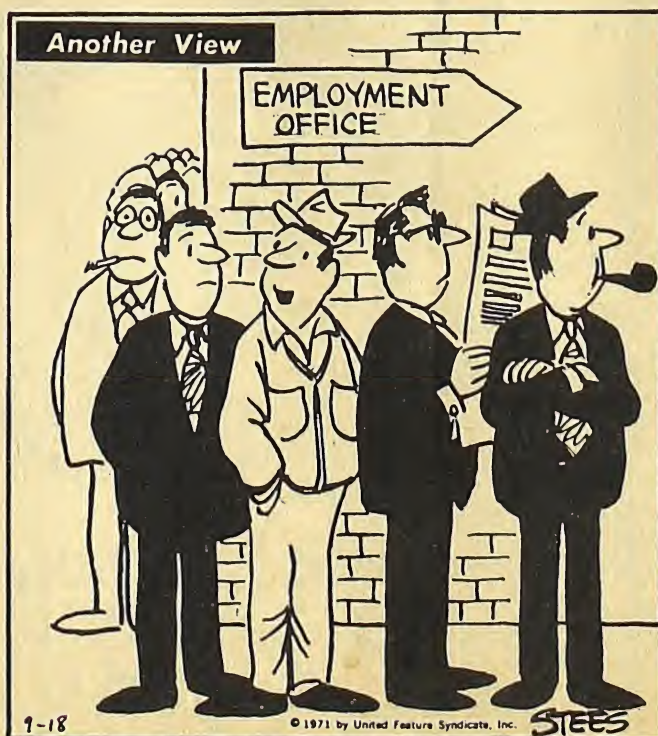

Three times in the second half the Chiefs stopped Gibraltar with first and goal inside the six yard line. Faced with almost defeat, I wonder how many of us would have given up. It was also gratifying to see Coach Lee Smeltzer working on winning the game right up until the final gun and conducting himself like the gentleman he is.

Despite what the psychologists say, I'm sure some character was built on that night.

I happened to bump into a former student of mine while at a conference on the Central Michigan University campus last week. I remembered him as the tiny little kid in the sixth grade whom I used to encourage to run around the high school track next to the school. We had a pleasant chat and I found that he is planning to enter the recreation field when he graduates.

On the ride home my thoughts drifted back to the boy in Judge Stone's court. I couldn't help but compare the two young men. Both seemed to be polite, nice young adults. Yet, these two can look ahead to a very different future.

I wonder what makes the difference in what happens to us in our lives . . . ?

Tour guides available for 'colorful' Michigan

Mother Nature is mixing her paints for her annual exhibit of creative artistry in Michigan, and the panorama of color must surpass, or at least equal, the most brilliant works of the old masters.

Flaming reds, fiery oranges and warm yellows blended with rich nut browns and cool evergreens will create a series of living landscapes for the eyes to frame for the hallway of memories.

The first showing is usually unveiled in mid to late September along the shores of Lake Superior in Michigan's upper peninsula, according to the Michigan Tourist Council. Then, nature in all her majesty crosses the Big Mac to display her autumn masterpieces throughout the lower peninsula, completing her gallery about mid-October.

The enjoyment of a Michigan color tour is enhanced by the absence of the summer crowd, making public accommodations more convenient, and in many cases, less expensive. Michigan's highways and byways are far less congested during the fall season and "shutter bugs" are welcome to stop and capture some of the regal beauty on film.

Campers will find that, unlike the summer season, there is no waiting at Michigan's nearly 80 state parks and 30 state forests. Balmy days and crisp nights provide an almost perfect camping climate, and most state parks offer electricity, modern plumbing and hot water.

For those who wish to combine sightseeing with their color tour, the council offers a free, Michigan Autumn Color Tour Guide containing 24 suggested tours plus particular points of interest.

One of the suggested tours in the upper peninsula takes you north from Crystal Falls on US 141 and brings you back again on US 41 and M 95. Along the way you might like to visit Crystal Falls, the Indian Burial ground at Chicaugon Lake, take a boat cruise on the Menominee River or visit the formal gardens at Kingsford.

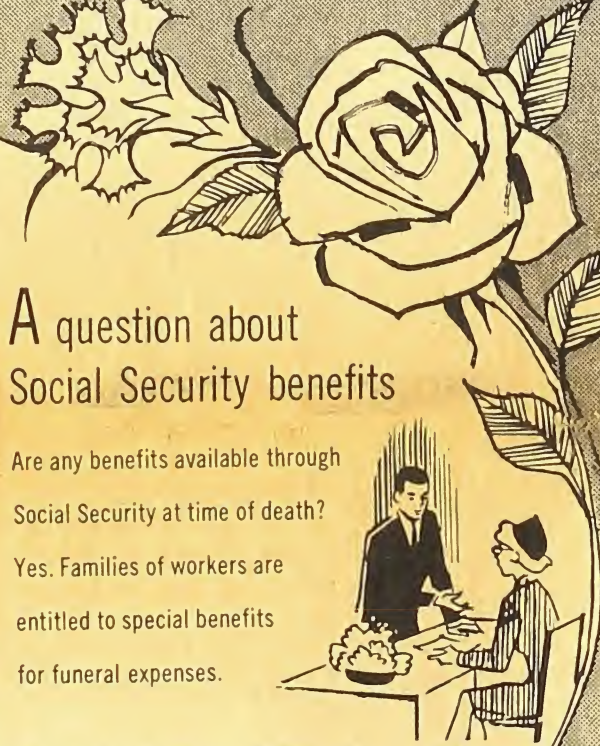

At the northern tip of the lower peninsula is perhaps one of Michigan's more popular attractions, famed Mackinac Island and Fort Michilimackinac in Mackinaw City. This suggested tour gives you good reason to absorb some of the legend and history of the area. Beginning in Mackinaw City, it takes you south via M-131 along the shores of Lake Michigan, bringing you north again on US-31 to I-75.

Another tour takes you to the northwestern area of the lower peninsula along the shores of Traverse Bay and Lake Michigan. If you're a lover of the arts, you might enjoy a visit to Interlochen National Music Camp or the Leland Art Colony.

For a free copy of the Michigan Autumn Color Tour Guide containing these and 20 more suggested tours mapped throughout the state, write the Michigan Tourist Council Lansing 48926.

Wheelmen ride with heads in the sky

Have you ever felt the thrill of sailing through the air knowing you are taller than everyone else?

This and many other thrills are experienced by a group of riders called "The Wheelmen," who own and ride antique bicycles with wheels as high as 60 inches.

One such wheelman is Alan Otter of 25330 Otter Rd., New Boston.

He and six others from the Michigan club were busy in Chicago recently where they participated in filming a television commercial for Pabst beer which is expected to be shown sometime in December. The highwheels fits perfectly with the theme "Old Time Flavor."

Since it's not a segregated group, riding high wheels is a fun way to keep in shape, as prove by petite Linda Miller, 24211 Struin, Flat Rock, one of the feminine riders who can hold her own on the high bikes.

Clad in white knickers and red scarves, the wheelmen are favorites of parade spectators. Many of the group have enjoyed displaying their stunts and talents at local parades, the Schiltz Old Time Circus Parade at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Belle Isle Marathon and the Antique Car Festival at Greenfield Village.

Their next big event will be a 100-mile marathon from Springfield, Ill. to Maumee, Ohio, Sept. 24 and 25.

So keep watching - it won't be long before you see a high-wheeler heading your way.

Griffin urges services for veterans improved

U.S. Sen. Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich.) today urged the Veterans Administration to improve its service to Spanish-speaking veterans by hiring a bi-lingual representative and by printing VA pamphlets in Spanish. Griffin, in a letter to VA Administrator Donald Johnson, said he understood there are no bi-lingual, bi-cultural representatives among the 22 assigned to the Detroit Regional Office of the VA.

Griffin said he is confident there is a "substantial number" of veterans in the Spanish-speaking community of 80,000 in the Detroit area alone.

Noting that surveys indicate only about 15 per cent of Spanish Americans can speak and understand English with no problems, Griffin said, "Because of the language barrier, many Spanish-speaking veterans and their dependents are not fully aware of the benefits available to them. A bi-lingual representative in the Detroit Regional Office could help eliminate this problem."

Griffin noted that the Social Security Administration publishes many of its informational pamphlets in Spanish to serve the more than 10 million Spanish Americans.

In urging the VA to adopt a similar program, Griffin said such action "would serve as an important indication of the Veterans Administration's concern about the problems of Spanish-speaking veterans."

Romulus girl is in Florida

Miss Laura Ann Pasternak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Pasternak, 11439 St. Aloysius, Romulus, has arrived in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. to attend Pine Crest School. Laura Ann is a student in the 12th grade.

Pine Crest is a co-educational, college preparatory school located on a 43-acre campus in northern Fort Lauderdale. It began its 38th academic year Sept. 8th with 1,200 students in grades K-12.

THE SAWDUST SCRAMBLE — The 1971 Corn Roast of the Huron Valley Conservation Association was held recently in Elwell Woods, Lower Huron Metropolitan Park. The event attracted many youngsters who participated in various games including a sawdust scramble for $40 in coins.

Wayne Federal prexy named

Clare K. Morrison has been named president and chief executive officer of Wayne Federal Savings & Loan Association, succeeding A. G. Marriot Jr., who retired recently for reasons of health. Morrison has served with National Bank of Detroit for 28 years in a variety of management positions, most recently as officer in charge of the Grand River-Fenkell branch.

He is married, father of two sons and lives with his wife, Irene, at 15580 Fitzgerald St., Livonia. Wayne Federal, based at 35150 Michigan Ave. West in Wayne, has branch offices in Belleville and Ypsilanti.

Morrison joins the association in time to participate in the opening of a new office in Garden City and a new office in Ypsilanti, replacing the facility destroyed by fire several months ago, and other developments designed to expand the services of the association.

Cuts helped

Huron schools fiscally sound

The Huron School District completed the fiscal year ending June 30, 1971 with a fund equity, according to the annual statement issued Monday.

In issuing the financial statement for publication, School Superintendent Byron K. Antcliff said, "Budgeting in the Huron School District as in other Michigan school districts received two severe setbacks during the 1970-71 fiscal year.

"First, the Michigan Supreme Court ruling on providing free materials and text books placed an unexpected burden on the district

"Next, the governor's surprise two per cent reduction in February meant further program reduction.

"Despite all of this," he said, "the Huron School District completed the year with a fund equity. It should be remembered, however, that this was achieved by offering fewer educational opportunities to the young people of the district.

"Huron School District operates its schools on 20.9 mills or $20.90 per $1,000 of assessed property valuation, state equalized, compared to a state-wide average of nearly 26 mills."

Urban renewal contract deferred

Formal action on approving an urban renewal planning contract with Parkins, Rogers & Associates, Detroit-based planning consultants, has been deferred by the Romulus City Council.

Urban Renewal Director George Wilhelm had submitted the proposed planning contract between the Urban renewal office and the consulting firm.

The council tabled action until members of the council could sit in executive session to discuss their views on the proposed contract.

Councilmen William M. Oakley and James C. Stewart voted against tabling the contract approval.

Craft classes offered

Registrations are now being accepted from physically handicapped teenagers and adults for craft classes to be held at the Easter Seal Center near Michigan Ave. and Middlebelt Road, Inkster.

These sessions provide an opportunity to learn new skills or to carry on an existing hobby in the company of others with similar interests. They are open to any resident of Wayne County without charge unless he wishes to make articles which he plans to sell. In such cases he is expected to cover the cost of the materials to be used.

The craft program is directed by Janice Hengel, an occupational therapist, as one of the local Easter Seal services assured by contributions during the annual Easter Seal Appeal at Easter time and the membership drive now in progress.

Inquiries may be directed to the Society through P.O. Box 101, Inkster 48141 or by calling Parkway 2-3055.

Conservationists' corn roast biggest, best ever

The 1971 Corn Roast held under the sponsorship of the Huron Valley Conservation Association was "the biggest and the best of them all," officials report.

The annual event that attracted a record crowd of adults and children was held in the Elwell Woods in the Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville on Sunday, Sept. 12.

The winners of the annual drawing were Ray Freudenthal, 54 N. Riggs, Belleville, who won a Winchester 30-30 rifle; Virginia Cook, 21721 Bohn, Belleville, who won an outdoor table and umbrella; R. Sitema, 5865 Caldwell, Garden City, who won a Samsonite card table and family recreation.

The corn roast, one of the year's highlights, ended the summer season of activities for the association.

One of the highlights was the tug-of-war for the women. Approximately 50 women participated in the tug-of-war. A water balloon contest between couples permitted a husband to douse his wife with water and laugh about it.

The sawdust scramble for $40 in coins drew a considerable number of children. All managed to find a coin in the sawdust pile.

Various games for adults, children alike along with a pie eating contest for children were some of the other events scheduled for a full day of family recreation.

The corn roast, one of the year's highlights, ended the summer season of activities for the association.

Nature trails set up

William F. Hopkins, chief naturalist for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, said that this is an especially good time to take a self-guided hike along the nature trails in the metropolitan parks.

He also says that in order to preserve plants that produce "fall color" visitors should not collect leaves or wildflowers in the park or as they hike along the park's nature trails. Dogs are not permitted in buildings or on the nature trails.

The authority's parks that have labeled nature trails are Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens, Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica, Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park northwest of Ann Arbor and Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville.

Brochures are available without charge by writing to "Nature Trails," Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, 600 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Michigan, 48226, or phoning 961-5865.

FEDERAL PROGRAM SPECIALISTS - Congressman William D. Ford addressed members of the Michigan Association of State and Federal Program Specialists (MASFPS) via telephone last week. Attending the conference were (from left) Ella Woolery, director of Title I Reading Services, Van Buren School District; Robert McConeghy, superintendent of Romulus Schools; Jim Linderman, president of MASFPS, Wayne-Westland Community Schools; Williams Simmons, deputy superintendent of Detroit Public Schools; Luke Wiegienka, assistant superintendent of Huron Schools; Warren Spurlin, assistant superintendent of Wayne-Westland Community Schools.

Ford slaps desegregation bill, Nixon's proposed amendment

By TRUDY KETELHUT

Via long distance telephone last week, Congressman William D. Ford, (D-15th District) predicted that the national government is on the verge of making decisions which would affect the form of federal aid to education over the next 10 years.

Ford, whose district includes all of the Enterprise-Roman area, had been scheduled to address members of the Michigan Association of State and Federal Program Specialists (MASFPS) at the Ramada Inn in Romulus, but was detained in Washington D.C.

He spoke to the group instead from the nation's capitol, kicking off a two-day seminar sponsored by MASFPS and the Division of Field Services at Eastern Michigan University.

Predicting that the controversial desegregation bill facing national legislators would be detained in committee until the second session of the 92nd Congress, Ford sharply criticized its content.

He told the educators that he would sponsor a bill next session which would offer an alternative to the desegregation package.

President Nixon has urged an amendment, which would prohibit using federal money to pay for busing, he said.

"We have no chance of stopping it if it gets to the floor," Ford confessed.

Nixon's proposal for a second amendment to the bill is a "magnificent display of insincerity," Ford claimed.

He reported that the amendment would allow school districts to use funds from state and local sources to pay for busing, replacing these depleted funds with federal money.

Ford said his package would prohibit any trading of dollars.

He termed his proposed bill a vehicle for allowing everyone involved to have their say on busing and to amend all of the existing educational legislation.

"It will pour more gasoline on the issue," he promised.

Ford told the educators that the problem the country faces is letting the question of funding obscure a basic education program.

He added that despite the billions of dollars authorized for education, only a small percentage of those dollars are ever appropriated each year.

The congressman challenged those who would criticize school districts for lack of efficiency in implementing federal programs.

"How can anyone expect efficiency with the late appropriations and less than what you ask for," Ford said. "We don't know how well many of the programs can work because we've never funded any of them."

Ford advised district administrators, who are tagged with a bill from the U.S. Office of Education to return a portion of their federal aid, not to pay.

"The limitations on the use of federal money are too narrow. It wasn't our intention when we wrote the bills," Ford commented.

"I can't see school districts facing the loss of accreditation with the cutbacks they have had to make," he said.

Old World Market set for Oct. 7 to 10

Southeastern Michigan residents have a rich cultural heritage—just how rich is reflected in such survey results as a recent one showing over one-half of Detroiters with at least one parent born in another country. Perhaps it is for this reason that Internationally Institute's annual Old World Market each year attracts greater numbers of people as contributions of varied backgrounds are recognized and enjoyed.

To be held this year Oct. 7 through 10 (Thursday through Sunday) at International Institute, 111 E. Kirby at John R, the entire three-level building and street in front will be turned over to the original authentic Old World Market.

Hours are from noon to 10 p.m., except Sunday, to 9 p.m. Admission is $1 for adults and twenty-five cents for children under 12 years.

An outstanding feature of this year's Market is a series of 42 brightly illuminated display cases in the Hall of Nations. "Fun and Games Around the World" is the theme of all the contents.

As the viewer progresses from one nationality exhibit to another, he is struck by the similarities throughout history and around the world—from Japanese silk badminton paddles, through Bulgarian bagpipes to the many kinds of balls used for virtually the same games, like bowling balls made surprisingly of porcelain.

Authentic offerings will be made daily in merchandise booths from American Indians, Black Artists, China, Estonia, Finland, Germany, Greece, Italy, Latvia, Lithuania, Netherlands, Philippine Islands, Poland, Slovak, and the Ukraine.

Daily craft demonstrations will be given in candle-making, copper enameling, Czech wire animals, glass-blowing, Indian beadwork and baskets, lapidary, Lithuanian straw ornaments, macrame, metalcraft, pottery, shellcraft, silver jewelry, Ukrainian eggs and cross-stitch, and weaving and spinning.

There will be nightly street dancing to live, ethnic musicians such as Friday night's Rhodians, a Greek ensemble led by Mike Simon. The outdoor scene will also include snack service of Italian waffles, cider and donuts, a French bread booth, and hot chestnuts and roasted peanuts from a picturesque vendor.

"OUR TOWN" - Dianne Hill is Emily and James Ryan is George in Thornton Wilder's "Our Town", which reopens at the Hilberry Theatre Oct. 6 at 2:30 p.m. as part of the school matinee repertory. Complete schedule and ticket information is available from the Theatre Box Office at 577-2972.

Hilberry productions reopening next week

The Hilberry Theatre will reopen two of its popular recent productions within one week, when "Our Town" returns for school matinees on Oct. 6 at 2:30 and "A Man for All Seasons" opens the regular evening repertory on Oct. 8 at 8:30.

"A Man for All Seasons," Robert Bolt's prize-winning drama about Sir Thomas More's conflict with Henry VIII, was last performed Aug. 14 as part of the Hilberry Theatre's most successful summer festival to date.

The cast is headed by Howard Jensen as More, a performance which received critical and audience praise during the summer. In the Detroit News, critic Ernest Gilbert described it as "an elegant, polished portrayal." Jensen has played a number of leading roles, including Guilester in "Rosencrantz and Guilester" and "The Common Man," Mary Benson (Lady Alice More), Michael Andrew Miner (Master Richard Rich), John H. Napierala (Norfolk), James S. Newell (Cromwell), James Corrigan (Roper) and David F. MacEnulty (Henry VIII).

A new member of the company, Kathleen Gaffney, will take over the role of More's daughter, Margaret, played before by Barbara Ball.

"Our Town," Thornton Wilder's American classic, is held over for the school matinee repertory, designed to provide performances of plays studied in the high schools. When the 1938 Pulitzer Prize-winner opened at the Hilberry last season, Free Press critic Lawrence DeVine noted that "Our Town" stands sturdily upright, whimsical, and still tender." John Sterling Arnold, returning to the Hilberry company after a year's absence, will step into the lead

'Someone Behind the Door' waiting to take your money

By HOWARD ALLEN
Eagle Drama Critic

If one defines a germ as something minute and well hidden, then it is feasible to concede that there is the germ of an idea in "Someone Behind the Door," a European potboiler which never remotely approaches its potential.

Anthony Perkins, who for a change is not insane (except when he signed the contract for this film), stars as Dr. Lawrence Jeffries, a British doctor whose wife, Frances, (Jill Ireland) has taken a French lover, Paul Damien (Henri Garcin).

Jeffries schemes to murder

Damien when a schizophrenic who has murdered his wife (Charles Bronson) suffers total amnesia and is placed under Jeffries' care. Jeffries manufactures evidence of his own life and subtly weaves the fabric of an artificial personality around the helpless psychotic, convincing him that Frances is the amnesiac's wife and Damien her lover who murdered her. He then makes sure the amnesiac has a loaded gun and sets up a confrontation with Damien.

Any ingenious idea from Jacques Robert's novel has been totally erased in the unimaginative and banal screenplay by Robert, Marc Behm and Nicolas Gessner. Gessner compounds the felony by directing at a snail's pace, sparking no energy whatsoever from his cast.

Perkins and Bronson underplay their roles to a state bordering on complete inertia, helpless in the grip of lethargic direction and a cliché-ridden script. Moreover, Perkins cannot even suggest an English accent. Bronson's performance is so pathetic there are literally dozens of amateur actors in Detroit area community theaters who could have done better.

There is "Someone Behind the Door" and he's waiting to take the ticket you purchased at the box office. For heaven's sakes, don't open it.

scene about town cap patric
THE SOUND OF BEAUTIFUL MUSIC continues to draw droves of people to THE DANISH INN, in Farmington, where the magic name of Pat Flowers is another way of saying all things beautiful. And his keyboard, like his unshakable following, returns his gift of great sound with love! Not only do we go for the pleasure of Pat's company; Host Dick Bensek does much to make your visit unforgettable! A Columnist for Gourmet Reader-Diners, Dick proves cooking is the art we suspect it to be, whether you read what he writes... or taste what he creates! So oo: T-W-O great reasons for returning to The Danish Inn often... and oftener. And if you've ever "seen" us around town... you'll do well to follow us back to The Danish! If you're gonna get treated by recognizing Cap... then get a double treat, by catching us t-h-e-r-e... and give ME a treat, to boot! It's the place I make a liddle music about, melsels, by golly! (If you're lissenin', Dick... get some of them Crabby Alaskan Kings by the Legs... willya? Because I'm kinda crabby myself, when it comes to tryin' Crabs ennywhere else in the world!)

WHEN THE AIR WAS clean and lawmen were scarce, the great equalizer was the six gun. Now, the air isn't great and laws reach within tailpipes, making today's great equalizer a turbo-supercharger. The guys who make great engines for places like Indy and connoisseurs like Mercedes and Subaru, were in town last week to talk with people from Schwitzer, Relay and AirResearch. Corky Allen, Editor of a leading Automotive Magazine, let us know what they thought of our town... and of VLADIMIRS, at 28125 Grand River, right-between Livonia & Farmington... and a stone's throw from Redford and Southfield! Walter Sarkovich survived three wars before coming back here to make the beautiful life available to us all... and Corky writes that "... whoever planned and built that place, knows for sure how the good things work. It must be a dream come true!" So it is, and the man who dreamed of happiness for all people, built a Wedding-Business... Meeting-Banquet-Luncheon-Reception-Presentation-Exhibit-Convention-Facility... that makes it worth a fella's while to turbocharge on over for! For 30 or for 500... for everyone from Miss Sweet Sixteen to Sir Auto Exec... this IS the place to have a ball! If you've a celebration in your future... you'll want to make Vladimirs a part of that future!

OH GEE, BEAU-J, how's come you're runnin' a race-away-from-the-race-type place, HUH?? Hear tell folks rush over there now... whether their four-leggy pals are running or standin still! TRUE, you say?? Oh, yeh... Connie Graham! Well, that v-e-r-y lushus young lady is just what makes a guy RUN, for sure! This lushus little eyerful has as many curves as a scenic railway... and a B-I-G voice that never lets you down!! And while we're following the Jet Set... and lissenin to Miss Connie... AND a smooth sounding bunch who back her up... we're living it up on your Chopped Sirlion... and generous libations... and gettin' so fond of Beau-J's, that I'll be here right through Oct. 30th (that's when DRC closes til Spring)... and right through Xmas (that's when I wish for Connie's extra-special singin'... and right up until Spring when DRC opens again. Because even when they DO close across from 13090 Inkster Rd. (just south of Schoolcraft)... the swift keep runnin, at BEAU-J's!!

"IF YOU HATE COPS so much", read the bumper-sticker... "next time you're in trouble, call a Hippie!" I said to myself... Margie has GOT to be here! And sure enough, right inside VICTOR'S, right at 34410 Ford Road right in Westland... there she sat, bold as anything!! "SO!!", I roared. "Sober again!!" She just tilted her pretty blond bean, baffled those see-inside-ya eyes and asked, "Cap... would you tell a lie about me?" Therefore, let me go on record as saying that Margie has good taste in MENNY things! She can pick up a Victor's Menu, and where I find man-type food like a N.Y. Strip Steak... she'll find Pecan Rolls... and Julienne Salad... and Cherry Pie! Margie is a girl that sees everything else in life. Yes, there are nice things to be said about this gal. For instance, didn't I just spot her at Victor's?? And, here's a switch: Next time I SPOT H-E-R... she owes ME a meal! See how just walking into the home of 24-hours-a-day GOOD Food gives you great results? Keeps you sober? Fills you with happy thoughts? AND costs you suchaliddlebit! When you can't decide whether it's Margie or Victor's you prefer to talk about (because you think they're BOTH great!)... and when you find 'em both together... you've got it made!

OKAY, SO YOU SAVE the night out for a couple days. So you miss us one place, but you find us another. So in the meantime, lemme tell you how to have fun at home! Think of Andrew J. Spizak's famous quote: "Character is what you stand for... and reputation is what you fall for." And think what you can bring home that has BOTH character and reputation... and still keeps Spizak from lending you a bracelet. Bring home MALT DUCK. It has character. It has reputation. It has TWO new flavors (Grape 'n Apple!!). And it really keeps you off the street! It's NOT a beer... it's NOT a Wine... it's like Andrew J., something all it's own! You'll find it on the shelf of your favorite Package or Party Store. You'll find it on the list of every Hostess who wants to make your evening pleasurable. And you'll find it... is the greatest new taste treat you can think of! Makes ya happy to stay in. And makes ya ask for it when you go out. And makes this my last thought for the day. So be happy. Especially with Danna Distributors' newest goodies: Grape and Apple Malt Duck!

Recycling groups unite, schedule joint meeting

To help promote rational, environmental thinking in the metropolitan area, a coalition of over twenty recycling and ecology oriented groups has been formed. Named the Detroit Coalition for the Environment, the organization hopes to be able to counter the massive industry and governmental resistance to environmental protection.

After seven months of hard work and frustration, BICEP (the Biological Committee on Ecology and Pollution), and many other groups have been forced to stop their voluntary recycling efforts because of industry and governmental apathy and antagonism.

The primary reason for the BICEP closing was the group's inability to find and keep a permanent location for its recycling efforts. The first group to start sustained community collection for recycling in the Detroit area, it was forced to move from its original State Fairgrounds location because of the State Fair. Relocating at the East Detroit High School, the group had to leave that site when school began. It has not been able to find another site.

BICEP has not been alone in being forced to close down. Other groups have had difficulties in finding volunteers or in obtaining trucks. One group, the Earth Lovers in Grosse Pointe, was fined $200 by a municipal judge because they were supposedly making too much noise. The end result of such actions has been a marked drop in recycling groups. From a high of over 30 groups, there are only ten still collecting.

At a meeting between recycling groups and industry, it became apparent that voluntary recycling was having little or no impact on the solid waste problem. Commercial recycling also seemed to hold little promise. The alternative of recycling on a municipal basis (as was recently proposed by Mayor Gribbs) will be supported fully by the coalition, but for the problems of beverage container disposal, another answer seems best.

A bill has been introduced into the Michigan House of Representatives (H.B. 4685), which would place a deposit of ten cents on all beverage containers. As one of its first actions, the Coalition will be fully supporting this bill in conjunction with the Michigan Returnable Coalition, a statewide group which is supporting the banning of nonreturnable containers.

The next meeting of the Detroit Coalition for the Environment will be at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 5 at Helen DeRoy Auditorium on the Wayne State University campus. A pamphlet on H.B. 4685 and the solid waste problem, and information on the coalition are available from their offices at 467 W. Hancock, Detroit, 48202, or by calling them at 577-3480. All concerned groups and individuals are urged to attend.

Park facilities open for fall

The nine parks of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, serving the citizens of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties, offer a wide variety of recreation during September and October. Except for Marshbank Park, all are open year 'round.

In Western Wayne County, Lower Huron Metropolitan Park, a 1,000-acre site near Belleville, features picnic and playfields, play equipment in the Tot Lot, nature trails and exhibits at the nature center, plus an 18-hole "Par 3" golf course.

Golf hours are 8 a.m. to sundown and the Nature Center is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday only in the fall. Park hours are daylight to 11 p.m. and the phone is 697-9181.

Other parks of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority include Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens, Stony Creek near Utica and northwest of Rochester, Marshbank near Pontiac, Kensington near Milford, Willow between New Boston and the Village of Willow, and Delhi, Dexter-Huron and Hudson Mills along the Huron River northwest of Ann Arbor.

A wide range of facilities are available at these parks including boat launching, golf, swings and slides, shuffleboard and tennis courts, nature trails, scenic drives, fishing and picnic grounds.

Huron advisor group slates Oct. 11 meet

The Citizens Advisory Committee for Long Range Planning for the Huron School District will hold a committee-of-the-whole meeting at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 11 in the Hannan Road Elementary School.

The Huron Board of Education under the direction of president Carl K. Rush, who is currently school board treasurer, formed the citizens advisory committee in June. At a meeting held on June 29, the committee received detailed instructions as to its purpose and responsibilities by Rush.

The committee was charged with the task of determining what future buildings and program will be needed for the projected population growth of the school district. The committee was also instructed to determine what the growth means and project what the school population will be in the years ahead. The committee is to make recommendations to the Board of Education.

Officers of the advisory committee are: John McKinney, chairman; Richard Ortnier, vice chairman; and Joanne Elliott, secretary.

Other committee members are: Betty and Phil Baschal, James and Clem Cook, Robert Dettlor, Ralph Dugan, Loretta Glenn, Betty Griz, Charles Grover, Leslie Higgins, Wayne Maveal, Ray Miller, Joanne Mittlestat, Vernon Moore, John Puskar, Mickey Rogalle, Ruth Sutter and James Tillotson.

The committee as a whole set up subcommittees to study the many areas that must be looked into prior to making final recommendations to the school board.

HURON SCHOOL DISTRICT ANNUAL FINANCIAL REPORT FOR THE YEAR ENDED, June 30, 1971

Budgeting in the Huron School District as in other Michigan school districts received two severe setbacks during the 1970-71 fiscal year. First, the Michigan Supreme Court ruling on providing free materials and textbooks placed an unexpected burden on districts. Next, the Governor's surprise two per cent reduction in February meant further program reductions. Despite all of this, the Huron School District completed the year with a fund equity. It should be remembered, however, that this was achieved by offering fewer educational opportunities to the young people of the district.

Huron School District operates its schools on 20.9 mills compared to a state-wide average of nearly 26 mills.

Speaking of your health

Hormones may solve problem

By DR. LESTER COLEMAN

Our first child was born two months ago. It was found that one of his testicles had not descended properly.

How does this strange thing happen? Is an operation the only way to correct it?

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Utah

Dear Mr. and Mrs. W.S.: The miracle of embryo development defies imagination. Even sophisticated scientists wonder that any child can be born free of abnormality.

As the embryo develops, the testicles descend slowly into the scrotal sac from a position high in the abdomen near the kidneys.

Sometimes one or both of the testes fail to make the descent properly. The condition is known as "cryptorchidism."

In some instances, the testicle may not descend into the sac until a year or two after birth. Doctors keep such children under close observation and often are able to encourage the descent with hormone injections.

When that method is unsuccessful, surgery during childhood is advised. Many excellent techniques have been created for successful results.

If the child is old enough, it would be important to explain thoroughly the problem to him so he has no psychological problems associated with a feeling of embarrassment.

Children at a very early age have remarkable comprehension for which they are not always given credit. It is surprising how often a child of 5 years can be made to understand that a problem exists and that every effort is being made to set it right.

After a bone in the arm or leg is fractured and heals, is it as strong as it ever was before?

We have been pampering our 11-year-old son and are keeping him out of sports for almost two years because of our fear of another fracture in the same spot.

Mrs. V.C. N., Fla.

Dear Mrs. N: When bones heal after a fracture they are as firm and as strong as they were before the injury.

It must be remembered that there is marked thinning or atrophy of the muscles, especially when a limb is kept in a cast for a long period of time.

These muscles must be encouraged to develop their strength once again so that they, too, can return to normal.

A slow return to regulated exercise helps this. There is no reason why your son should be deprived of all the benefits of sports because of your unnecessary anxiety.

Speaking of your health: Do not force brandy down the throat of a person who has fainted or is unconscious.

Find right angle without square

By AL CARRELL

Dear Al: Drawing a perfect right angle without a square can easily be done with the help of a paint can and a straightedge. First draw a straight line. Then place the paint can flush with the line and draw a line around the can. Move it over and draw a second circle that intersects the first. When a straight line is drawn from the first line through the tow points where the circles intersect, it will be at right angles to the first line. "Flunked Geometry"

Flying causes earache

By WILLIAM G. CROOK, M.D.

Q—We travel by air a great deal; this leaves my son with an earache, and a slight loss of hearing after each flight. It clears up in a few days and usually happens when the plane is descenating. He has tried yawning and chewing, but nothing dreads each flight. Can you make any suggestions as to what might help this situation? - Mrs. A.B.J.

A—Obstruction of the Eustachian tube causes your son's earache. Here's what happens: As the plane descends, the atmospheric pressure increases. But since the Eustachian tube is blocked, the air pressure in the middle ear remains lower than that on the outside, so your child suffers pain from this increased pressure.

Since chewing and swallowing doesn't help your son, if he's going to keep on flying, you should seek medical help. As a general rule, youngsters who experience this sort of problem have an underlying allergic swelling of the lining of the nose and throat which is aggravated by the change in altitude and pressures.

Sometimes, simple medication prescribed by your doctor can completely prevent such symptoms. Medication includes antihistamine decongestants taken an hour before the flight begins, plus decongestant nose drops or sprays. If the flight is a long one, medication can be repeated 30 minutes or so before the end of the flight.

Q—My child's pediatrician has mentioned to me several times the advantages of children going barefoot. I also remember a column you wrote on the same subject, pointing out the benefits to a child's feet and ankles from going without shoes.

But don't you think going barefoot in areas where hookworm exists is dangerous, since the only protection against contracting hookworm infection is to keep one's feet covered?

Otherw, of course, I think going barefoot is beneficial and gre run. — Mrs. M.

A—Although hookworm is seen far less commonly than it once was (before the widespread use of indoor plumbing facilities) it still appears occasionally, especially in warm climates, including the southern part of the United States. Even so, although I live in the south and treat patients from urban, suburban and rural areas, I've never seen a case of hookworm in my own practice.

Suspect the doctors will be delighted to learn the average American only ate about 20 apples last year... Scholars still insist the world's first horses were less than a foot tall... Was none other than Harold Orbern who described marriage as a social system designed to produce motors for tricycles... And there's also a street in San Diego called Uneeda Place, I'm told... know of nobody who contradicts the claim it was women, not men who first wore clothing.

What would you regard as the ideal tape measurements for the perfect feminine figure? Half a century ago, there was such a standard, the Ziegfeld Follies girl. The record shows those young ladies measured on the average 36-26-38. Half that long ago, the average measurements of the Radio City Music Hall Rockettes were 35-25-35. The average Las Vegas showgirl right now is said to measure 37-25-36.

So inquires a Tennessean. He liked books, did Antoine Boudard. So he retired from business at the age of 49, bought an extra house in Paris, and filled it with volumes. No, he didn't read them. Didn't much care whether they were good. Bought them by the carload. One house wouldn't cut it. He bought four more houses. Filled them with books, too. More than 800,000 in all. General tendencies: Now you have an unusually good day and evening, designed for the idealistic and for problem solving. You would certainly be wise to get in touch with friends and acquaintances who you can help attain desired ambitions and much joint-success can ensue.

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get in touch with friends who can assist you in a new project. The social side of life can be very good for you, especially in the evening. Avoid arguments.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Your Venus charm can be used to good advantage today in dealing with others, especially higher-ups. Projects in the outside world can come to a head now. Make hay while the sun shines.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Forget dull routines and study brochures, magazines and newspapers for the information you want. Gain favors from those who are out of town. State your plans clearly and well.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) You have been procrastinating where responsibilities are concerned, so start early and put them out of the way now. Later you can be romantic. Avoid extravagances.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) A fine day to come to a real understanding with an associate who has been difficult. Someone who has opposed you can now be considered a friend. Show others that you are an intelligent person.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Use more modern methods and it will be easier to accomplish your duties. You can improve your health during your spare moments. Avoid one who wants to control you too much.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can be with congenials today during your spare time for a most delightful time together. Show that you are particularly devoted to loved one. Spend only within your income.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you try to please kin, you get excellent results and increase harmony in the future. Invite persons to your home who are helpful. Good advice will be offered. Listen carefully.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have clever ideas and can now get the cooperation of others to put them in operation. Once your work is done, relax with persons you like. Engage in your hobbies.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You like to have that feeling of prosperity and can do something now to gain it. Discuss with a prominent person who is willing to give you advice on how you can emulate methods.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can gain personal goals easily now, so get an early start on them. Friends will be cooperative in this. Since you are very dynamic, you quickly gain the favor of others.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Listen to the advice a clever person gives you. It will help you advance more quickly now and in the future. Don't confide in others or you could lose out where it counts most.

If your child is born today he or she will be one of those naturally lucky individuals who can accomplish almost anything, provided you teach early to be more discreet in picking friends, otherwise your youngster could go in the wrong direction in life and become notorious instead of famous. Give the right spiritual training and send to the proper schools that will bring together persons of good character and brains.

Garland, finding none of his receivers in the open, decided to cover the four yards that would determine the game. He sprinted around end to score and provided the Tigers with the equalizer, 13-all, against Trenton.

Then, Les Crawford, who saw his first conversion attempt strike the upright, was given the chance to win the game. He booted the conversion and Belleville opened the inaugural Suburban Eight Conference season in the victory column with a narrow 13-12 decision. "We were lucky to win this one," said second year Belleville coach Keith Emerson. "And we will have to play much better if we are to continue to win."

Emerson's Tigers hit the trail to Edsel Ford Friday afternoon for their second "8" test. Edsel and Allen Park played to a 6-all tie in their opener. The T-Birds also have a nonleague victory against East Detroit to their credit. "Edsel is a very big, tough and aggressive ball club," said Emerson. "And that will mean we will have to beat our best."

Emerson also has two of his regulars on the questionable list. FB Tony Ogletree is on the injury list after departing from the Trenton game in the first quarter. He re-injured his knee, while tailback Charles Boddie, who didn't see action against Trenton, may be available for some duty against Edsel.

Belleville snapped a scoreless first quarter with a touchdown midway in the second period when quarterback Mike Garland hooked up with Bruce Ford for a 35-yard pass-run TD play. Crawford's extra point attempt hit the post and bounced back.

That score stood up until the fourth quarter when Trenton retaliated with two of Casey Robertson's touchdown runs that gave the visitors a 12-6 edge.

Then Garland put together a 68-yard drive, kept alive on three pass completions to fullback Ralph Cohen that carried the team to the four yard line where the senior Belleville signal-caller sprinted into the end zone with less than 20 seconds to spare.

Belleville's initial TD was set up by Ron Blum's fumble recovery at the 35-yard line. On the first play from scrimmage, Garland stunned Trenton with the aerial to Ford for the six-point.

Belleville's defense, led by linebacker Keith Simons, Terry Pate, John Alford, Gary Krajewski and end John Meyers, was called upon to stop Trenton on several

'8' gets the ball rolling

Twenty seconds to go—and Belleville quarterback Mike Garland rolled out to pass.

Twenty seconds to go—and

There was a bit of politics, a lot of athletics and good food on the menu of the first meeting between the Suburban Eight conference athletic directors and members of the Fourth Estate who gathered last week in Dearborn's Chamberlin Restaurant to discuss "communications".

And it was the first time, to my knowledge, that any high school group ever even tried to understand what happens on this side of the typewriter - and we want to commend the ADs for their efforts.

"The main purpose of this get together," said John Sandmann, head of the Plymouth High athletic department, "is to create better communications with the people of the press. We would like to know with whom we are speaking with."

Sandmann, the president of the newly-formed Suburban Eight Conference which became a reality this year, was speaking for a group that represented high schools that have approximately 15,000 students. Among members of the conference, that is an off-spring of the old Suburban Six, are Belleville, Redford Union, Trenton, Plymouth, Allen Park, Livonia Bentley, Dearborn and Edsel Ford (Dearborn).

The two Dearborn High schools are the newest members of the league.

All eight high schools were represented: George Fefles (Bentley), Jack Johnson (Dearborn) Arnold Skip) Domke (Edsel Ford), Howard Kraft (Redford Union), Harold Jaroch (Trenton), Dick Hershberger (Allen Park), Harry Hidenfelter (Belleville) and Sandmann (Plymouth).

Newsman, as well as a newswoman, who cover these high schools were well represented. (Have ya ever heard of the Press by-passing a function where there's good food?)

One issue that remains imprinted in my computer is that of the important of athletic directors stressing to their coaching staff the necessity of contacting the press.

"We can't be at all games at all times," said one member of the Press. "We represent you, the athletic department, in the eyes of the public. If the coach fails to phone in the score or fails to have someone do it for him, it is impossible for the reporter to write the story."

"This brings on cries of biasness, from the fans who think we deliberately leave out the stories. We have one thing to sell to the public and that's news and we will use every means of gathering the necessary information - but we also need the cooperation of the coaches."

There are good coaches, and there are bad one - as there are good reporters as well as bad ones, so how about the information that coaches do phone in and is "murdered" by the writers.

A reporter pointed out in "such cases when someone murders the story, athletic directors should step in, in fact, they have a responsibility to call the poorly written article to the attention of the writer."

"We're human and we will make mistakes," said the reporter, "but you don't help with silence. A mature person is always ready to accept criticism, be it constructive or otherwise."

The Suburban Eight ADs also want it to be known that they are against any movement by the state board of education to take over the Michigan High School Athletic Association. (Sports writer Dann Barkume will have more to say on the subject in his column next week.)

Apparently, the state board of education feels it's time to disband the MSHAA into sectional groups and hand the overseeing job to a civil service appointee.

"It is a political move to curtail the MHASS operations," said Fefles. "and I can say I'm against it."

The athletic directors were quick to add their unanimity: "The MHSA structure should remain 'status quo'", they said.

"The MHSA has been a model for the entire nation," stressed Sandmann, "and any tampering with it would be foolish. Sure, it has made its mistakes, but for 47 years it has improved the quality of athletics in this state second to none in the nation, and what else can one ask for?"

Though the conference has gotten off to an excellent start, an ominous cloud hangs over one of its members. A teachers' strike in the Trenton School District may wipe out that high school's participation in athletics this season. Though the football program is presently being kept alive by assistant principals, the situation in the school district isn't bright.

All the teachers have been fired - and the board is screening 300 new applicants to fill those jobs. And one must really be naive not understand that a state of war exists between the board and those whom they fired.

"You don't do this to an entire system," said Jaroch, "the fireworks have just started."

What are some of the future plans of the league?

"Well, we would like to expand our nine-sport program to include such sports as hockey and gymnastics," said Sandmann. "We also will be offering more in the way of girl athletics."

"This league has tremendous potential and we are going to make it the best league in the state," he said.

We'd say they're off to a good start.

Belleville golfers are undefeated

Belleville linksmen chalked up a 20-stroke victory over nonleague rival Taylor Center at Shady Hollow Golf Course last week to stretch their victory string to three matches.

"The summer gave us a lot of time to polish up on our games," said Belleville Coach Sam Vicchy whose team was to participate in the prestigious Dearborn Invitational last night.

Craig Barnett fired a two-over par 38 to capture medalist honors while teammates Steve Burwell, Bob Stead and Chris Birk shot identical 40s.

'TURNABOUT' — While Belleville quarterback Mike Garland (12) swoops around end, mate Mike Garland Dansard (38) tries to put a Trenton griddier out of the way. Belleville managed to pull out a 13-12 victory Friday night to begin the expanded Suburban 8 Conference season in the winning column. Garland eventually scored with 20 seconds to go to set up Les Crawford's extra point kick that decided the game.

Coaches select top gridders

Coach Keith Emerson and his Belleville coaching staff have announced the outstanding players lauded for strong performances in Belleville's come from behind victory over Trenton last Friday.

Back of the week is Mike Garland. Garland, a 6'1", 165 pound senior quarterback, led the Tigers on offense, tossing a 35 yard touchdown strike to Bruce Ford and scored the tying touchdown on a four yard run. Garland hit on five out of 11 passing attempts and completed four clutch passes in a row on Belleville's final drive that led to victory. Garland was also outstanding on defense.

Gary Krajewski, a 5'11", 175 pound senior guard was named lineman of the week by the Tiger coaching staff. Krajewski was outstanding on blocking assignments on both passing and running plays and received the best grades of all the linemen in the eyes of the coaching staff after they viewed the game on film over the weekend. On defense, Krajewski saved a touchdown with a saving tackle on the two yard line and batted down a pass on a crucial fourth down play.

The tackler of the week is Terry Pate. Pate, a 6'2", 185 pound junior end was credited with nine primary tackles and six assisting tackles for a total of 24 points. The coaching staff awards two points for a primary tackle and one point for an assist. Pate's total of 24 is the highest this year so far. Pate made several jarring tackles and caught a crucial pass on the final scoring drive.

Romulus stumbles

Six minutes of football confusion cost Romulus an 18-14 nonconference decision to visiting Highland Park Friday night. It was the first loss of the current campaign for Coach George Pratt's Eagles.

Highland Park went the length of the field the first time the Colts got their hands on the ball and later turned a block punt into their second first period touchdown to leave on the host trailing 12-0 at the end of the opening quarter.

Romulus, which didn't threaten in the first half, got on the scoreboard early in the third quarter when Mike Hunter picked up a fumble and sprinted 57-yards into the end zone. Then, quarterback

Virgil Smith put the Eagles within reach when he hooked up with end Ken McMann for the 2-point conversion to make it 12-8.

The Eagles scored again in the fourth period when John Arrington capped a 16-play, 60-yard drive by slipping off tackle from five yards out for the TD, but that was only after Mike Norris put Highland Park on the scoreboard with a three-yard quarterback sneak late in the third quarter.

Gibraltar Carlson continued to live it up in the Huron Conference last week as it turned a pass interception into its second league victory of the campaign at the expense of Huron.

Huron drove to within 15-yards of a touchdown in the opening period but a aerial into the flats was picked off by linebacker Tom Naverre who raced 85 yards with what proved to be the winning touchdown in the 7-0 shutout.

The battle turned into a "brutal defensive duel" as neither team was able to mount another serious TD threat the remainder of the game.

"It was the hardest-hitting game we have ever been involved in," said Huron Coach Lee Smeltzer. "In fact it was a brutal type hitting affair."

The setback was the first for the Chiefs who evened up their league record at 1-1. Carlson (12-0) moved into the lead with Monroe Catholic Central who bumped off pre-season title favorite, Tecumseh, 8-6, for its second victory of the year.

Monroe is next for the Chiefs who must find a way to get past the co-leaders in order to keep their title hopes burning.

"Monroe is an excellent team that doesn't make too many mistakes," commented Smeltzer. "They are well drilled, and beating Tecumseh established them as the team to beat in our league."

The Chiefs will host the game Friday with kickoff slated for 7:30 p.m.

Huron's defense, led by defensive guard Frank Cameron, tackle Ron Thompson and Danny Clark, held Carlson to a mere 59 yards rushing. The victors were "scoreless" with their aerial assault.

However, the Chiefs also were punchless with their offense that generated a mere 14 yards rushing. Quarterback Marty Gracia was more successful with his air game, hitting the strike zone six of his 17 attempts for 89 yards.

The last quarter was the most productive for CMU last year as it scored 74 points in it.

After a pass interference call placed the ball on the 1 1/2 yard line and an off-side penalty nullified the first successful conversion attempt, Romulus failed to realize its second point after the ball missing the target.

The Eagles didn't give up, and late in the fourth period they put together another drive that carried them to the Colt four yard line where, on a fourth down, Smith tried a pass which popped out of the receiver's hands in the end zone.

"If we could forget about those first six minutes," said Pratt. "we could have beaten (Continued on B-2) them. We lost our poise and when we realized we could play against them, it was too late."

Romulus is home again this week to Carlson, which has chalked up two victories in two starts and is leading the Huron Conference. The Eagles will host their rivals Friday afternoon.

Romulus' junior middle guard Marvin Williams played an exceptional game against Highland Park as he accounted for an unbelievable 21 solo tackles and assisted on four others to lead the defense.

Smith's four of eight pass attack. (Smith had two of his aeriels stolen). Highland Park gained a total of 171 yards on the ground and was held yardless in the air.

Arrington had the largest hunk of yardage on the ground as he rushed for 60 yards in 15 carries, and Jerry McWhorter accounted for 20 yards in seven tries. McMann was the recipient of the three aeriels which netted his team 30 yards.

"Our defense played an outstanding ball game," said Emerson. "It was our offense which was ineffective."

The Tiger offense generated 150 yards, 79 of which was from rushing while 81 was produced on a 5 of 11 passing effort by Garland.

In comparison, Trenton accumulated a total of 285 yards - 193 yards on the ground and 92 in the air as quarterback Tim Vam Gothen realized four of 10 passes.

One of Van Fothem's aeriels was picked off by defensive halfback Mike Dansard. That interception thwarted a Trenton TD threat in the third quarter.

WHERE THE ACTION IS — The name of the game at Belleville Friday was defense and Tigers Keith Simons (72) and Stan Mars (32) played it well as they combine to bring down this unidentified Trenton ball carrier. Coach Keith Emerson had nothing but praise for his defensive unit which stopped the Trojans inside the Tiger 15-yard line three times and was also called upon to halt their Suburban 8 rivals at the one-yard line. Belleville managed to emerge on top of a 13-12 decision to remain undefeated for the 1971 campaign. They'll meet Edsel Ford on Friday for the first time in the history of the two schools. Edsel, a Dearborn high school, is one of the two new members of the league.

Belleville harriers roll on Belleville's cross country squad upped its season record to 4-0 with a convincing 18-39 victory over Edsel Ford last week. Belleville has yet to lose in the 1971 cross country season.

Jon Cross finished number one and the Belleville senior crossed the finish line in a time of 12:53. Lonnie Clark finished second, Phil Combs was third and John Cicotte was fourth, all are from Belleville. Gary Reffit, also of Belleville, finished in eighth place. Belleville will travel to Plymouth and will then play host to Dearborn in meets scheduled this week, according to coach, Ken Head.

De Sana explains vote on riverfront stadium

Wayne County Commissioner James DeSana (D-23rd), whose district includes Huron Township, said his vote in favor of the $126 million bond issue for the downtown domed stadium was based on the "long-range economic impact it will have on Wayne County."

Speaking to the Romulus Roman following last Thursday's 16-9 vote in favor of the county pledging its full faith and credit behind the bond issue, DeSana said he was concerned about the economic impact of allowing a stadium to be built in Oakland County.

The commissioner said he felt such a move would be detrimental to Wayne County's status as the hub of the business and sports community in Michigan.

"What we'd be doing if this thing is to fail is to let a competitor to Wayne County develop in Oakland County," DeSana said. "If it does happen to go to Oakland, be rest assured Wayne County won't be the hub of business and the sports community."

"All these things provide jobs," he emphasized. "Once they change the direction of that stadium, then the business community will follow."

DeSana said he felt that the people in his district definitely benefitted from Tiger Stadium and Cobo Hall and the surrounding business district.

He likened the present situation to that of Houston, where, he explained, the Houston Astro-Hall and business began to sprout up after the Astrodome was constructed.

The commissioner emphasized, however, that he did not feel Thursday's vote was the most important. He said the Wayne County Board of Commissioners' approval of the stadium bond issue was based on the assumption that the State Legislature in Lansing will allow the stadium authority to levy taxes on hotels and racing in Detroit.

"Without those, there won't be a stadium," he stated.

Commissioner John N. Sabo Jr. (D-24th), whose district includes Belleville, Van Buren and Sumpter townships, last week came out against county support of the proposal. At last week's Board of Commissioners meeting, where he was of nine to vote against the proposal, he said he favored the stadium, but not the county pledging its full faith and credit behind the $126 million bond issue.

County given $150,000 to finance county jail study

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has received $150,000 in federal crime control funds to finance a six-month study of the possible need for a new county jail.

The grant was awarded in Lansing by the Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice Sept. 15.

Outside consultants will be hired to study the entire fabric of jail and correctional facilities in Wayne County and to recommend long-term improvements. The study will cost a total of $200,000, including $50,000 in services by county and City of Detroit personnel.

The key question involved in the study will be whether or not a new jail facility should be constructed and, if so, what type and where.

"The results of this study will give the Board of Commissioners the facts we need to make a sound decision on what kind of jail facilities are needed and where," said County Commissioner Eugene A. Sikora of Detroit (D-District 7).

The target date for the start of the study is Oct. 1, with completion slated by next April 1.

A total of $1,154,328 was allocated for 11 crime control and prevention projects within Wayne County at the Sept. 15 meeting of the state crime commission.

Largest single grant was $347,183 for the "crash programs" under which temporary judges have been added to Wayne County Circuit Court and Detroit Recorder's Court to reduce the backlogs of cases awaiting trial.

Wayne County agencies received a total of $489,271, including the grant for the correctional needs study. Other programs getting funds are a Circuit Court pre-trial release program, additional staff for the Prosecuting Attorney, and "Project Alternative," which will be operated in cooperation with the YMCA.

The Detroit Police Department received three grants totaling $206,577—to hire community service officers and a police legal adviser, and to start a school instructional program.

The City of Inkster received $35,396 for a communication center. Madonna College got $44,901 for volunteer probation officer training and the League of Catholic Women got $40,000 to finance "Project Transition."

To date, a total of $9,197,961, 43.6 percent of all omnibus crime funds released in Michigan, have been allocated to programs within Wayne County.

Interest rate lowered for auto purchases

An interest rate reduction of 33 per cent on loans for new 1971 automobiles has been announced by Lowell L. Peacock, president of Security Bank and Trust Company, Southgate.

Security Bank will offer reduced loan rates to any qualified consumer purchasing a new 1971 automobile effective Sept. 16 through Oct. 30.

The new 7.51 annual percentage rate represents a 33 per cent reduction from the prevailing 11.08 annual rate.

Peacock stated the bank is attempting to keep Detroit's economy moving and support the President's economic policy. He explained that by reducing the consumer's cost of purchasing a new 1971 car, the auto dealers would be able to move their inventory, and the long run effect would be to increase sales and assist in reducing unemployment.

THEY'RE NEWLY WED — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sobecki of 45065 Bemis Road, Belleville, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Rita, to Ray Turner of Lakewood, Colorado, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Earl Turner of Louisville, Kentucky. The Rev. Father Doherty presided at the double ring nuptials August 27 at St. Bernadette's Church in Lakewood, Colorado. The bride, a legal secretary in Denver, chose for her wedding a long-sleeved ivory street-length dress with a green lace bolero. The bridegroom is employed as a sales representative for Toni Company. The newlyweds are making their home in Lakewood.

Rawsonville Church is setting for wedding

In an August 21 ceremony at the Rawsonville Baptist Church, Willinda Joyce Plymale became the bride of Jene A. Fletcher, Jr. Their double ring vows were heard by Pastor H. Franklin Miller of the Berean Baptist Church, Belleville, at seven o'clock in the evening.

The double ring vows united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Plymale of 6831 Sheldon Road, Belleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jene A. Fletcher of 4505 Corinne, Belleville.

"The Lord's Prayer" and "Because" were sung during the service by Mrs. Glen Parker who was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. James Phillips.

WHITE GLADIOLAS and pink chrysanthemums graced the altar as the bride approached with her father. For her wedding day she selected a traditional gown of Chantel lace designed with a natural waistline, portrait neckline and long lace sleeves. The bouffant skirt, formed of tiers of lace, flowed into a cathedral-length train.

Her double veil of silk illusion, cut in mid-back length, was caught to a Camelot cap in matching lace. Completing her bridal ensemble was a bouquet of white carnations and pink sweetheart roses tied with pink ribbons.

The bride's best friend, Sandra E. Parker, was asked to be maid of honor and her sister, Jeannie M. Plymale, was bridesmaid. Their toe-touching frocks of pink chiffon over satin were in the empire mode with embroidered flowers and a satin bow for accents. Their headgear was comprised of matching satin bows with shoulder-length veils attached and their bouquets were made up of pink-tipped white carnations and pink sweetheart roses.

BEST MAN was Phillip Neir and groomsman was the bride's brother, Bill Plymale. Toni and Hal Dekker, cousins of the bridegroom from Grand Rapids, took charge of seating the guests.

For the happy occasion, Mrs. Plymale donned an aqua polyester coat-dress ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations and pink sweetheart roses.

The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of apricot chiffon over taffeta with silver accessories. Her corsage was identical to the bride's mothers.

Following the ceremony the 200 guests gathered in the church hall for the reception after which the newlyweds departed for a week-long honeymoon trip through Northern Michigan.

Among those greeting the young couple was the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Culey of Lakeview. Other guests were from Grand Rapids, Brighton, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Detroit, Wayne, Westland, Warren, Dearborn Heights, Plymouth, Mesa, Arizona; and Bryan, Ohio.

The new Mrs. Fletcher is a 1969 graduate of Belleville High School and her husband was a member of John Glenn's class of 1970. They are currently residing at 500 E. Liberty Street, Belleville.

completion of his duties, the prospective bridegroom plans to return to Michigan to attend college and pursue courses in the field of architecture.

A March wedding is being planned.

1971 is bonanza year for silver anniversaries

As any demographer will tell you, 1946 was a very good year — for weddings. The demographers, as well as great many non-sociologist types recall 1946 fondly as the year in which nuptials set a record — and launched the "baby boom."

That time was the time when the boys came home from the wars — and the girls sure were glad. Since almost no one had a TV set in those pre-historic days (there were 7,000 scattered around the country) there was more time for mooning and spooning too. More than 4½ million Americans were wed that year.

As a result of all that rice-throwing, a great many couples are celebrating their silver wedding anniversaries right now in 1971. And as one might surmise, one segment of business to show the effect of this record-setting silver anniversary year is the silverware industry which is doing especially well.

Also expected to be a setting records this year is the baby-boom generation of the 1946-47 era — through ownership of life insurance. In 1970, a record of 34 percent of all policies was purchased on those between 15 and 24, reports the Institute of Life Insurance.

There also seems to be enough evidence around to indicate that the 1971 bridal crop will be trying to match nuptial records with the 1946 generation. So far — the first three months of this year — some 406,000 couples made it to the altar. While this does not match the bridal procession of the first quarter of 1946 (527,968 marriage licenses were issued then) as they say at election time, final figures are not yet in. The traditional Really Big Season for Weddings runs through September — so who knows, the baby boom generation might topple that 1946 record yet.

Local trio back from reunion in California

BY MRS. JOSEPH SPRING
OX 9-4021

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Roberts and son, Steven Michael, of Liberty St. have returned home from Canova Park, California, after visiting his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Roberts and family, whom he hadn't seen for five years. They also visited an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cobery and son, Mike, at North Ridge, California.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Robson of Tyler Rd. were the latter's sister, Mrs. R. Lien and daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Lind from Bemidji, Minnesota.

Miss Ellen Gould of Willis accompanied Mrs. Henry Sager of W. Columbia Ave. to Cincinnati, Ohio, where they were guests of the latter's brother, Marvin Meerse, and Dr. and Mrs. James Jacobs and family for a week. Mrs. Sager then went to Newport, Indiana, where she spent some time with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ola Neel, before returning home last Tuesday with her nephew, Edward Neel, of Allen Park.

Members of the Wayne County Book Club to the number of 22 enjoyed a picnic at Lower Huron Park on Saturday, Sept. 18. Hostesses for the occasion were Miss Lucile Webster of Dearborn and Miss Florence Renton of Savage Rd. The afternoon was spent visiting and discussing their summer travels. Mrs. Bernice Dondineau was also present.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mericle of Denton Rd. and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Statham of Milford, attended the 12th K.F. Owner's Club Seaway Regional fall meet on September 18 and 19 at Findlay, Ohio, with headquarters at Holiday Inn.

Sunday's activities were concluded at the Buckeye Western Club where presentations of awards were made and a "paper plate" banquet was enjoyed. Members were present from Michigan, Ohio, Canada, Indiana, Pennsylvania and Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schaal and Mrs. Hazel Schaal of W. Columbia Ave. were Sunday guests of the former's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, and infant daughter of Flint.

Mrs. Elda Bohl of Robson Rd. returned home Monday night, Sept. 20, after enjoying a 16-day conducted tour of the Orient. Among the countries visited were five days in Japan, Taiwan, (formerly Formosa), Hong Kong, Singapore, and Thailand. She reports enjoying the native foods and dances and good weather.

Mrs. D.W. Ross of Liberty St. recently spent a week at Rolla, Missouri, with her grandson and wife, Captain and Mrs. D.F. Ross, and her new great-granddaughter, Rachelle Christine.

Gray Zavitz of Kitchener, Ontario, was a caller last Wednesday evening on Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mericle of Denton Rd.

After spending several weeks visiting relatives in Belleville and other Michigan cities, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller left on Tuesday of last week for their home in Oxnard, Calif.

Now, watch closely — Mrs. Lilyan Carlson, who teaches the afternoon sessions at the Carousel Cooperative Nursery, holds the attention of four of her students as she gives a demonstration using cardboard tubes.

Carousel Co-op Nursery opens with 51 students

One of the big fall events for Belleville area pre-schoolers this year is the opening of the Carousel Cooperative Nursery. Mrs. Lilyan Carlson, a teacher for the nursery, states that "educators have found it important to reach children as early as possible. However, few efforts have been made until now to do so. Only a few years ago it was found that half of all growth in human intelligence takes place between birth and four years of age. Two-thirds of one's intellectual development occurs before formal education even begins."

The purpose of the nursery, Mrs. Carlson further states, "is to enrich the emotional and social development of the three to five year old child, and to stimulate on the part of the parents, greater understanding and awareness of the child and his relationship with others his own age."

After surveying the general Van Buren area and subsequently determining the need for a cooperative nursery, a group of concerned mothers banded together to form the Carousel Nursery. According to Mrs. Jill Ongley, president of the executive board, "The nursery has obtained a charter as an incorporated organization, been issued a state license and has leased a portion of the Belleville United Presbyterian Church to conduct the nursery."

After having announced the intent to form the pre-school classes in July, by August 1st, two morning classes of 17 children each were filled and a third class of 17 in the afternoon was formed. The sessions will run for 2 1/4 hours two days a week. Mrs. Pat Touse will teach the A.M. sessions and Mrs. Carlson the P.M. session.

Mrs. Marion Garlick, membership chairman, stated that, "Each parent is responsible for having a T.B. test and each child a complete physical examination, and the child must be at least three years old before December 1." No further requirements are necessary to enter. To fill any vacancies a waiting list has been formed. 1972 registrations can be taken now with priorities going to charter members and to church members. Formal registration will be conducted in April of 1972. Call 699-4291 if you wish to register.

Mrs. Ellen Rigli, treasurer, reports that; "Each parent, along with assisting the teacher once a month, pays $40 per semester to enroll his child." A registration fee of $5 per family was used to obtain accident and liability insurance for each child and teacher.

Other support has been given by the Huron Valley Cooperative Nursery Council and donations received from the Belleville Kiwanis Club. Other organizations such as the Rotary and Junior Study Clubs have expressed their support.

Of all community supporters however, none has made a greater contribution than Jack Lawson of Riteway Construction Co. The Carousel Nursery wishes Belleville area residents to know that through Mr. Lawson's generosity and sincere desire to better the educational opportunities for our children, the Nursery is now a reality. The nursery area had to comply with regulations of the State Fire Marshall, State Health Department, and State Social Services, who license such nurseries.

So, since September 20, 51 children will have the educational and social advantages of a Pre School Nursery in the Belleville area.

MR. AND MRS. LEONARD B. DRYER

Mackinac Island is honeymoon site

The Ball Road Church, Romulus, was the setting August 28 for the double ring wedding of Brenda Lea Sparkman and Leonard B. Dryer, both of Romulus.

Some 200 assembled guests witnessed the six thirty rite officiated by the Rev. Norman Gilford. Soloist for the ceremony was Carl Sherman who sang "When He Gave Me You".

Her four-tiered illusion veil was caught to a crescent-shaped flowered headress and she held a cascade bouquet of white daisies, roses and carnations.

Mrs. George Simko, Sr. of Romulus was her sister's honor attendant and Sandra Dryer, sister of the bridegroom, and Cecelia Scott of Taylor were bridesmaids.

Their floor-length frocks were fashioned of yellow dotted swiss and their wide-brimmed hats were encircled with ribbon-mint green for Mrs. Simko's and yellow for the others. Each carried a basket filled with yellow daisies.

THE BRIDEGROOM's brother, Michael Krupnow of Taylor was asked to be best man. Ushers were John Sparkman, Jr., brother of the bride; and George Simko, Jr., her brother-in-law.

The VFW. Hall in Romulus was the setting for the reception which followed. Mrs. Sparkman greeted guests in a mint green chiffon ensemble with matching baby roses pinned at the shoulder. The bridegroom's mother donned a powder blue outfit and added a corsage of blue baby roses.

Since returning from their honeymoon on Mackinac Island, the newlyweds have been at home at 35275 Michele Drive, Romulus.

Ford charges freeze is unfair, discriminatory

Congressman William D Ford (D-15th District) joined with 50 other Democratic representatives last week in offering a "constructive alternative" to President Nixon's "New Economic Policy."

The 51 congressmen charged that the President's price-wage freeze is unfair and discriminatory in not setting controls on interest rates and profits, and added that it fails to offer a solution to the nation's mounting unemployment problem.

The full text of the statement follows:

"After two years and nine months of economic failure, the President has now adopted two of the most important proposals consistently made by Democrats — temporary controls on wages and prices and actions aimed at allowing the dollar to reach its true value in international markets.

"But the President's price-wage freeze fails to include controls over interest rates and profits, and is therefore justly viewed as inequitable by labor. Moreover, the 'New Economic Policy' does little to meet our tragic unemployment problem.

"While we favor some elements of the President's economic program, it requires the following changes and additions:

"1. The President should use the authority he now has under the Credit Control Act of 1969 to limit increases in interest rates;

"2. 'The double dip' — the 10 per cent investment tax credit proposal, which will cost the Treasury $4.8 billion in lost revenue in the 1972 calendar year, and the June, 1971, 'Asset Depreciation Range' system of accelerated depreciation (still without Congressional approval), which will cost $3.4 billion in 1972 — should be curtailed;

"3. A considerable portion of the funds made available should be put to better use by expanding the emergency public service and public works jobs programs and by prompt enactment of welfare reform;

"4. Additional revenues needed for fiscal soundness can and must be raised by closing the loopholes in the federal tax system which allow billions of dollars a year to escape for the benefit of special interests;

"5. The beleaguered local property taxpayers must be helped by maintaining federal aids for state and local governments needed to head off further increases in the property tax;

"6. Imaginative efforts should be made to get labor and management agreement on effective wage-price controls which protect the interests of all parties — including the consumer."

Mahalak says aid in sight for senior citizens

The problems of senior citizens have received increased attention in the 1971 legislature, and action on a number of pending senior citizens bill is expected in the fall, according to State Rep. Edward D. Mahalak (D-Romulus), representing Michigan's 38th legislative district.

"Today's older persons are caught in a vicious trap by their limited, fixed retirement incomes and the fast-rising costs of living. Often, after working all their lives, an older couple finds that instead of living in comfortable retirement they must do without many of the expected advantages. At times, even necessities are hard to come by," Mahalak said.

Thirty bills to aid and ease the plight of senior citizens have been introduced in the House alone so far this year, he reported.

Two of those bills have passed the House and are now under consideration in the Senate. One would prohibit a telephone, electric or gas company from requiring service deposits for homes of persons 62 years old and older unless the customer could be proven to be a bad credit risk under standards set by the Public Service Commission according to Mahalak.

A companion bill, which is in committee in the house, would require reduced electric, gas and telephone rates for senior citizens.

The other bill that cleared the House makes it possible for counties to establish multi-service senior citizens' centers which would offer special programs for older persons. These centers would be established with the assistance of the State Commission on Aging.

A bill that passed both houses and was recently signed into law by the governor will mean special benefits for the older sportsman. The bill approves giving the regular hunting licenses to senior citizens at reduced rates.

"Taxes are a heavy burden on the senior citizen homeowner," Mahalak said. "Recognizing this, the legislature has sought various ways to ease this tax load for older persons."

A law passed several years ago offered a tax exemption on the homes of senior citizens owning a home worth no more than $10,000 in state equalized valuation and an income of no more than $5,000 a year. Those who could meet these requirements were eligible for an exemption of $2,500. The state makes up for any tax loss by the local unit of government.

Last year the senior citizen's homestead tax exemption law was broadened by eliminating any restriction based on the value of the home and by increasing the income limits from $5,000 to $6,000 a year, Mahalak explained. This opened the exemptions to thousands of additional older property owners.

This year there is a bill under committee consideration in the House which would raise the amount of the exemption from $2,500 to $3,500, he added.

Other pending House bills go into other areas of tax relief for the elderly. One of them would exempt senior citizens with an annual income of no more than $6,500 from the payment of school taxes. Another would exempt federal retirement and pension benefits from the gross state-taxable income of senior citizens. Still another would place a limitation on the homestead property taxes of senior citizens with incomes of no more than $6,500 a year to an amount equal to 10 per cent of their annual gross income, Mahalak said.

The senior citizens' homestead tax exemptions are now limited to persons 65 years old or older. One of the bills introduced in the House would lower this to 60 years. Another bill would increase the maximum level of income for persons receiving the tax exemptions from the present $6,000 to $9,000. In this same general area is a bill which would exempt social security benefits from gross income in figuring eligibility for the homestead tax exemptions.

Special assessments can be a burden to older homeowners. A bill pending in the House would provide for state loans for senior citizens for payment of sewer assessments under the state's "clean water" program.

CONSERVATIONISTS CLEAN UP ISLAND
—Members of the Huron Valley Conservation Association conducted another clean-up campaign on Fireworks Island in Belleville Lake. The project was one of six cleanup jobs during the summer. Ray Gillam of Belleville and HVCA member stands alongside 21 litter bags and three barrels loaded with debris found on the island.

Island cleaned again by conservation group

A dozen members of the Huron Valley Conservation Association participated in the season's sixth and final clean-up campaign of Fireworks Island, located west of Belleville bridge in Belleville Lake. The clean-up project conducted Sept. 18 under the direction of Theodore E. Hooten of Belleville, resulted in filling 21 litter bags and three barrels. A float boat owned by Larry Rogaell of Belleville was used to gather all sorts of debris on the island.

Hooten reported that the litter receptacles donated by the association for use on the island were filled. The debris picked up was found on various areas of the island. The City of Belleville conducts its annual Fourth of July Fireworks Display on the island hence its name. Residents use the island for picnics.

Jaycee group plans meeting

The Huron Township Jaycee Auxiliary will hold their district fall meeting at St. Paul's Lutheran Church of New Boston on Thursday, Oct. 21.

The special guest speaker will be Mrs. Pat Schoenfeld of Swartz Creek. The theme for the program is "An Old-Fashioned Happening." Auxiliaries from 12 downriver communities have been invited to attend, project chairman Mrs. Lois Schiller of New Boston announced.

Planned in Belleville Oct. 21

Local heart forum speaker will discuss cholesterol

"You may be surprised to hear this, but a low cholesterol diet can be delicious...and healthy food does not have to be dull and tasteless," says Mrs. Dianne Batch, Riverside Osteopathic Hospital dietitian, one of the three speakers at Belleville's first free public heart forum, Thursday evening, Oct. 21, at the Belleville Senior High School, 501 W. Columbia Ave.

There are many good low-saturated fat recipes in the cook booklets that the Michigan Heart Association gives away, Mrs. Batch explains. "With the generally widespread understanding of the value of proper diet today, many good low calorie—low fat cookbooks are being written and sold today." Title of the forum is "You Are What You Eat."

Recipe booklets will be available at the forum, sponsored by the Southern Wayne County Unit of the Heart Association and cosponsored by the Belleville Enterprise. Admission will be by tickets available free at the Heart Information Center, 24365 Van Born Rd., Taylor, or from the office of the Enterprise at 405 Main St., Belleville.

"In our household, my husband, an atomic scientist, and two children like lemon baked chicken, or burgundy pot roast. The roast, which takes two and a half to three hours to cook, is especially good because it is low both in calories and in saturated fats. Both dishes use vegetable oil, and the flavor, of course, comes from lemon juice for the chicken and burgundy wine for the roast," Mrs. Batch said. She will also show a short movie, "Eat to Your Heart's Content." The Association is a United Fund agency.

Other speakers will include Dr. William L. Hailer, a member of the Trenton Osteopathic Clinic, who will discuss high blood pressure, a disease which affects an estimated 25 million Americans and is the most important single cause of stroke.

Dr. S. Phillip Grillo, who has practiced medicine in Belleville for 20 years, will lead the audience in playing "Risko," devised by the Heart Association to emphasize and explain the nature of heart risk factors. He suffered a serious heart attack about a year ago, but has made an excellent recovery.

"Our family especially likes muffins from the recipe in the heart booklet, which calls for one egg and skim milk," Mrs. Batch says. "Everybody likes muffins. We take our muffins, not with bacon or eggs, but with fruit of various kinds. These muffins are low in saturated fats."

"There is a cornflake and nut meringue, so good that we also use it in the hospital. Everybody likes a bit of a sweet now and then."

"Another recipe that is helpful is low calorie salad dressing—13 calories to the tablespoon—which is not only good but has the added virtue of keeping well in a refrigerator. With this, you can make many delicious vegetable salad bowls, for lunch or dinner."

Mrs. Batch of Grosse Ile, whose husband and children have joined a family effort to reduce risk factors to a minimum, lists some of the more important rules of a low cholesterol diet: stop frying anything, get rid of butter and substitute corn oil; use a wide range of seasonings, including herbs and wine; bake fish in lemon juice; and buy the leaner cuts of beef.

City workers get overtime

The City Council has authorized the payment of one day overtime for the next four consecutive weeks to Romulus Department of Public Works workers.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

Anger is seen everywhere these days. Children angry at parents. Parents angry at CHILDREN. Students angry at school authorities. Politicians angry at each other. People yelling, roaring at each other. Anger overriding reason nearly everywhere.

Anger is of course justified at times. But even when anger is warranted, extreme expressions or actions seldom serve any good purpose. More often than not, anger causes retaliatory anger. Friendships cease, Homes are broken. Apologies (if given) seldom repair the mutilation in human relationships.

Common sense should tell us how important it is to conquer anger. What good does it do to blow off steam, if it disrupts blood circulation and either aggravates or brings on ailments in body and spirit? And anger does just that! Ask your doctor! Or, ask a clergyman. He would probably say, "A soft answer turns away wrath..." or "He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty..." A better life is in store when those Biblical expressions are understood...

Ford one of first in Congress to begin using recycled paper

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) has become one of the first members of Congress to begin using recycled paper for his official office stationery.

Correspondence from Congressman Ford's office now has the following message imprinted on the bottom: "This stationery printed on paper made with recycled fibers." Other office paper will be converted to the recycled paper as present stocks are depleted, Congressman Ford said.

Ford, who has been a leader in congressional efforts to fight pollution and conserve America's natural resources, explained that use of the recycled paper has many advantages.

"It is estimated that 17 trees are required for every ton of paper produced," he pointed out. "The more recycled paper that is used, the more trees will be saved."

"In addition, since recycled paper is made from such disposable items as paper cups and milk cartons, use of the paper will reduce both air pollution and environmental litter."

"And finally," Congressman Ford said, "there is a considerable savings to the taxpayer, since recycled paper costs about 30 cents less per ream than paper made from wood pulp."

The congressman explained that recycled paper is produced by first removing ink, resins and other unwanted material from waste paper, and then using the remaining pulp to produce paper, cardboard, and similar products.

"If this waste paper were not recycled, it would either be incinerated or used in landfills, thus contributing to pollution of either the air or the soil," Ford said.

"It is my hope that all government agencies will soon join in the use of recycled paper to help in our efforts to control pollution, preserve our forests, and reduce expenditures."

"I am particularly hoping that the Government Printing Office, which runs the largest printing plant in the world, will shift to recycled paper. The GPO last year used 92,000 tons of paper, requiring the destruction of some 1,500,000 trees."

Congressman Ford recently joined seven other members of the House in introducing legislation to encourage use of recycled materials by granting a depletion allowance to firms making the change. Tax allowances would be given for use of any recycled materials, including paper, glass, oil plastics, road material, concrete, and similar substances.

Reduced lunch prices available in Van Buren

Van Buren Public Schools Board of Education has approved a reduced price lunch policy for school children unable to pay the full price.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size and income scale to assist them in determining eligibility:

Total Family Size	State Scale
1	$2,220
2	2,900
3	3,595
4	4,280
5	4,920
6	5,550
7	5,640
8	6,170
9	6,650
10	7,120
11	7,600
12	8,080

For each additional family member over 12 add $520.

Families falling within these scales or those suffering from unusual circumstances or hardships are urged to apply for reduced price lunches for their children. They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to the parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school.

Applications may be submitted any time during the school year. The form itself is simple to complete and requests information needed to determine economic need based on the income and number of persons in the family and any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school lunches.

The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.

The policy also provides that there will be no identification or discrimination against any student unable to pay the full cost of a lunch.

Landscaping plan for school to begin

A beautification program for the Romulus Senior High School, sponsored by the PTSA, will be kicked off Saturday morning, Oct. 2, at 10 a.m., when students, parents and teachers will plant two trees on the school grounds.

Recreation Commission sets meeting

The Van Buren Recreation Commission has set Oct. 7 as the date of its next regular meeting.

The meeting will be conducted at the Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Rd., near Belleville Road.

The high school is located at 6550 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus. "This is just the beginning," said Adell Austin, student vice president for the group. "We hope that we will have the cooperation and interest of the whole city. We have a beautiful building and should have equally beautiful grounds."

Adell said she thought the students would have greater interest in taking care of the grounds if they had a hand in the landscaping.

Mrs. Gerald Kubiak, acting treasurer, said professional plans for landscaping were being prepared through the cooperation of Charles W. Hazen, Romulus city planner. The trees have been donated by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lucke.
